Last Reunion to Be Ride to Cyanide Chamber —She Pretends Joviality as They Are Checked In.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 21—Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, who planned to spend their lives in luxury with $600,000 ransom from a kidnaping, today occupied bare, cheerless cells in the state prison, awaiting execution in just 27 days for their brutal crime.

From Cell No. 18 in "death row," Hall can see the exhaust pipe of the lethal gas chamber where he and his alcoholic companion are to die Dec. 18 for the kidnap-murder of young Bobby Greenlease. The window in Mrs. Heady's cell No. 25 looks out upon a solitary sycamore tree.

The prisoners will be within shouting distance of each other, but Warden Ralph Eidson said he "didn't think there would be much shouting."

Their Last Reunion.

Ne'er-do-well Hall and plump Mrs. Heady, who lived together, planned their horrible crime together and then failed to obtain permission to marry before they die, will have their last reunion in a ride in a prison automobile from death row to the gas chamber.

That trip, over a twisting quarter mile of rough prison streets and lanes, will be made 30 minutes before the joint execution, scheduled for 12:01 a.m. on Dec. 18.

Hall no longer appears the cold-blooded individual who first tried to strangle young Bobby Greenlease, then put a pistol bullet into the head of the struggling child near a Kansas farm last Sept. 28.

He has told a Presbyterian clergyman he is definitely sorry for his crime and he has begun to philosophize on the reasons for his downfall from the period when he was young man with a bright future assured by a $200,000 inheritance.

As the kidnapers arrived at the state prison yesterday from Jackson county jail in Kansas City, Hall told an official: "Lots of people are in here because of liquor. They usually learn too late."

She Pretends Joviality.

Mrs. Heady, although she also has shown signs of repentance, continued her pretense of joviality. She chatted with Hall as they were going through two gates at the prison entrance.

When the kidnapers were being fingerprinted, she said jokingly: "This is just like a homecoming."

Apparently her reference was to a robbery term that Hall served in the prison before being paroled seven months ago.

However, the 41-year-old divorcee, seven years older than Hall, showed at one point she was not entirely oblivious to the enormity of her crime.

As she crossed a prison yard en route to "death row," she said to Mrs. Bertha Carroll, superintendent of the women's prison: "Some people looked at me so horrible."

Mrs. Heady shivered in the cold, and Mrs. Carroll placed a coat over her shoulders.

Guard Against Poisoning.

ILLINOIS U. TO GET $912,570, ASSETS OF PROFESSOR SHOW

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—A final accounting yesterday enriched the University of Illinois by $912,570—the fortune built up by a quiet living, $6000-a-year professor who made it in the stock market.

A mathematics teacher, he lived within the means of his faculty salary. On his death, associates were amazed to learn he had piled up nearly $1,000,000, largely through spectacular stock market operations.

He will provided that the money be given to the university "to be held and invested, and the income used for educational purposes in such manner as the trustees shall determine; providing, however, that the use of said income shall be for other than current general operating expenses."

Miller, 87 when he died Feb. 10, 1951, was a widower. He joined the faculty in 1906 at a salary of $2000 and on his retirement in 1931 was being paid $6000 a year.

TOO MANY HORNS BLOW IN SERVICES, WILSON ASSERTS

DETROIT, Nov. 21 (UP) — Charles E. Wilson, who left his job as president of General Motors last year to take the post of Secretary of Defense, believes the Defense Department still has "too many horns and they blow too much."

Wilson, who "grew up" in the auto industry, used auto industry terms to describe a lack of unity in the armed forces to a meeting of the Automotive Parts Manufacturers Association in Detroit last night.

"One of the horns blows 'Army, Army, Army' all the time," Wilson said. He said real unification of the armed forces still is something to be desired.

"Another horn says 'Navy, Navy, Navy' endlessly. A third says 'Air Force, Air Force, Air Force.' And it keeps me awake all night."

He said he believes it "will be a better defense model when we get one good horn that says 'team, team, team.'"

FINDS $10,335 OF STOCKS, NEGLECTS TO TELL WIFE

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21 (AP) —When a reporter called to ask Mrs. William Schroeder about her husband finding $10,335 in Bank of America stock certificates on a street, she was mystified.

"Why he didn't even mention it," she said yesterday.

3 HELD, $18,500 RECOVERED IN BOURBON HOLDUP

Bank Robbery Is Speedily Solved by Centralia (Ill.) Police and FBI Agents.

Three men were held in City Jail today charged with the $19,671 robbery of the Bank of Bourbon, Mo., Thursday, following a speedy cleanup of the robbery by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and police of Centralia, Ill., where the men were arrested yesterday.

Named in a federal bank robbery warrant were John L. Heirman, 28 years old, a masseur formerly of St. Louis recently living in Centralia; Louis W. Johnson, 27, an unemployed automobile salesman living in the 5000 block of Delmar boulevard, and Robert P. Dickey, 22, a laborer, 5100 block of Enright avenue.

The prisoners, for whom bond of $50,000 each was recommended, refused to make statements about the bank robbery, in which three bank employes and four customers were threatened with a sub-machinegun and pistols.

Tip to Police.

Capture of the bank robbers and recovery of $18,500 of the loot resulted from a tip to Centralia police by a citizen, whose identity was withheld, the Post-Dispatch was informed. The three men were reported to have driven into Centralia early yesterday in Heirman's 1946 Cadillac, which was in bad condition from a hard drive.

The information was passed on to the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Springfield, and a search of Heirman's automobile led to discovery of a Missouri dealer's license plate. The plate was for an automobile stolen from a parking lot at 2219 Olive street Thursday morning, and later used by the bank robbers in their flight. The machine was found abandoned near Richwoods, Mo., 40 miles east of Bourbon, yesterday.

FBI agents from St. Louis and Springfield hurried to Centralia. Johnson and Dickey, who had spent the night at Heirman's apartment, were arrested on Centralia streets. A total of $1000 was recovered from them.

Weapons in Apartment.

Heirman, arrested at his home, offered no resistance, although a sub-machinegun and three loaded pistols were in the apartment. Officers found $14,000 in their first search, and later recovered $3500 in various hiding places in the apartment.

The prisoners were taken be-

Violinist and Pianist Wife to Play 5-Hour Concert on Anniversary

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Partners in a marriage where music is king will celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary tomorrow by giving a five-hour concert of Beethoven's 10 piano-violin sonatas.

Violinist Benno Rabinof and his wife, pianist Sylvia Rabinof, will play at Town Hall from 2:30 p.m. until about 10:30, with a three-hour break for dinner. A single ticket will be admission for the entire concert.

However, for the Rabinofs it will be "a labor of love." Rabinof adds that at home he and his wife can go through the 10 sonatas without stopping.

Mrs. Rabinof sees the concert as appropriate for their anniversary:

"The principle of playing sonatas applies to daily life. The piano-violin sonata is a dialogue between the two instruments. Each has to blend and harmonize. That's married life."

The Rabinofs met in Switzerland at the coffin of pianist Ignace Paderewski, from whom Mrs. Rabinof had received lessons. Her husband suggested bringing his violin at their first date.

A year later they were married.

Since then, they have played 1000 concerts in America and Europe.

TESTIMONY MADE PUBLIC BEFORE WITNESS GIVES IT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) —Representative Eberharter (Dem.), Pennsylvania, has protested that, even before questions were asked and answers given, a House Ways and Means subcommittee came out with a press release of a witness's testimony.

The release was issued yesterday while the subcommittee's hearing on the Social Security program was under way. It reported testimony by Philip Vogt, an Omaha (Douglas county), Nebr., welfare administrator.

In a statement, released along with the Q. and A., Vogt criticized the federal welfare program as "arbitrary, degrading and unfair."

Subcommittee Chairman Curtis (Rep.), Nebraska, said the release was prepared in advance after a conference with Vogt. Curtis said he resented any inference that the subcommittee staff, and not Vogt, prepared Vogt's testimony.

BOARD TO RULE TODAY ON PAROLE FOR ALGER HISS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) —Alger Hiss, whose first request for parole was unanimously rejected last year, gets another chance in an annual review of his case today by the Federal Parole Board.

Hiss, a former State Department employe, was convicted Jan. 25, 1950, on charges of lying when he denied under oath that he passed Government secrets to a Soviet spy ring before World War II.

He began serving a five-year sentence March 22, 1951, at the Lewisburg (Pa.) federal penitentiary. Even without parole he would be eligible for release in November 1954, counting allowances for good behavior.

Parole Board spokesmen said the new review is automatic and does not require Hiss's appearance. The meeting today is closed to the public, with an announcement of a decision thereafter.

QUEEN AND DUKE DANCE LATE ON 6TH ANNIVERSARY

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh danced until 3 a.m. today in a final fling before their departure Monday night for a commonwealth tour.

With some 40 close friends, they celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary at a secretly-planned dance in the ballroom of Clarence House, home of Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

Between dances, the party laughed at cabaret acts by stage stars Noel Coward and Peter Ustinov.

Then the royal couple went off to Windsor for a last visit with their children.

The Queen and the Duke will be away six months on a handshaking trip designed to give thousands of her subjects a glimpse of their 27-year-old queen. It will be the first time a British sovereign has made a world trip.

TEXAN, 111, GOES TO DANCE AND STAYS UNTIL IT'S OVER

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 21 (AP)—Walter W. Williams, 111 years old, went to a dance for an hour last night but decided to stay until the party was over.

Williams, a former member of Hood's Texas Brigade and the oldest living Civil War veteran, did not dance at the Mississippi Club's outing. However, when a daughter, Mrs. Willa Mae Bowles, asked him if he were having a good time, he told her he would stay until the dance ended.

Williams, 111 on Nov. 14, celebrated at his home near Franklin, Tex., with a cake-cutting the next day.

CANADA ASSERTS IT HAS TOLD U.S. EVERYTHING THAT GOUZENKO KNOWS

Will Reply Next Week to Second Request for Permission to Interview Former Red Code Clerk.

OTTAWA, Canada, Nov. 21 (UP)—External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said today "everything" former Russian cipher clerk Igor Gouzenko has told Canadian authorities since he fled from the Russian Embassy here eight years ago "has been made available to United States authorities."

Pearson said, in a hastily called press conference, that the second State Department request for permission for United States Senate investigators to interview Gouzenko was being considered by the Canadian Cabinet.

He said an answer to the request would probably be made "some time next week." He cautioned reporters against speculating" on what the Canadian reply would be.

A news story in the Toronto Telegram today said Gouzenko had signed an affidavit stating that some of the information he gave Canadian authorities had never been made public and had not been properly used.

'It Is All in Washington.'

"I can say that everything he has said to us, whether it appeared in the Royal Commission report (a Government report published in 1946) or not, has been made available to United States authorities," Pearson said. "It is all in Washington."

He would not name the agencies that received the information.

Pearson canceled plans to go to New York and returned to Ottawa early today from Niagara Falls after he was informed of the text of the latest Washington request. An earlier request, transmitted by the State Department for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, was rejected by Pearson.

Query to Washington.

Pearson said also that Canada had asked the United States Government to name the person high in the Canadian government who Federal Bureau of Investigation Director J. Edgar Hoover said warned him against the appointment of the late Harry Dexter White, then Assistant Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, as United States director of the International Monetary fund.

"We have not received a reply to that request yet," Pearson said. "But we may not need it. We hay be able to find out for ourselves."

A letter by Hoover put on the Senate subcommittee records this week by Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. said a Canadian official had commented on White's loyalty whil White's appointment was under construction.

Pearson told the press conference his action on the first request had been based on a Royal Canadian Mounted Police report. An officer of the Mounties, who guard Gouzenko against possible Communist retaliation for his disclosures about Soviet spying in Canada, interviewed Gouzenko Oct. 27.

Dispute Over Story.

The R.C.M.P. report quoted Gouzenko as saying he had been misquoted in an interview story in the Chicago Tribune.

Today, Justice Minister Stuart Garson, the Cabinet minister in charge of the R.C.M.P., said the Mounties' report had been partly wrong.

"There has been a little bit of misunderstanding on this," Garson said. "The Chicago Tribune is right when it says it did not misquote Gouzenko."

(A news story in the Tribune today quoted the former Soviet clerk as saying he could not understand "why United States officials could not come here to interview me."

("I believe I can give advice which, if properly put into effect, would have good chances of bringing the exposure of present Soviet spy rings in the United States in a comparatively short time," the Tribune quoted him as saying.)

Report by Mounties.

Pearson read to reporters parts of the R.C.M.P. report. It said:

"Gouzenko stated that he had nothing more to offer than what has already been reported in the Royal Commission report on Soviet espionage. He also stated that he had been grossly misquoted in the Chicago Tribune. He denies criticizing the handling of the case or the use which was made of the information and documents which he handed over. He informed his interviewer that under no circumstances would he proceed to the United States."

Pearson pointed out that Gouzenko is a Canadian citizen "wit all rights and privileges of a citizen." He can go where he wishes and talk to whomever he pleases, the minister said.

Matter of Safety.

"Of course if he comes out into the open it would prejudice the special security arrangements that have been made for his own protection," Pearson said. "I am not trying

Want Them Put in Indian Custody—Three Escapees Said to Have Proof of Communists' Duplicity.

PANMUNJOM, Nov. 21 (AP) —The Allies today accused the Communists of holding back some prisoners of war and demanded that the Reds turn over to Indian custody immediately "all those P.O.Ws you still retain."

Maj. Gen. J. K. Lacey told Communist members of the Military Armistice Commission that three Korean soldiers who sought refuge at an American sentry box Thursday were South Korean war captives who had been forced into the Red army.

The Communists asked for a recess to study Lacey's statement, then 30 minutes later asked for and were granted more time.

Evidence Secured.

The chief allied member of the armistice commission told newsmen the Republic of Korea soldiers provided evidence that the Communists "have forcibly retained prisoners after they had certified that all prisoners had been turned over to the N.N.R.C. (Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission)."

Just before the four-hour session adjourned, North Korean Gen. Lee Sang Cho declared that the three fugitives were North Korean soldiers and demanded their return.

Gen. Lacey quickly countered by inviting the Reds to take part in an open investigation, but the Communists said no as they have before. He also urged the Communists to "cease delays" and get on with the job of interviewing Chinese and Korean war prisoners who have refused to go home.

The explanation program has been stalled by Red refusal to accept Indian rules for speeding up the interviews. Lacey accused the Communists of delaying the program deliberately because of "disastrous" results.

Only about 3 per cent of the approximately 2500 prisoners interviewed so far have elected to return to Communist rule.

U.S. Envoy Lectures Reds.

United States special envoy Arthur H. Dean accused the Reds of delaying and making a farce of the preliminary negotiations.

"Does it really help you to call me a warmonger, untruthful, a rogue, insincere, irrational, lacking in common sense and frivolous?" Dean asked. "Are you trying to terminate these talks?"

Dean said the Communists were trying to maneuver Soviet Russia into a position where it could completely dominate the conference. He made the statement after the Reds had proposed that the "neutral" nation observers at the peace conference should be in a position to regulate debate.

This apparently would go further than earlier Red statements which, seemingly, would have limited the neutrals to being observers only. Dean said the new Red statement was completely unacceptable.

Dean said the Red proposal appeared to mean that if a nonbelligerent nation attending the conference called for debate on any subject nothing else could be discussed until the neutral decided that matter was settled.

4000 AMERICANS LISTED AS MISSING IN KOREA TO BE CLASSIFIED AS DEAD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP) THE Army plans to transfer about 4000 Americans now listed as missing in action in Korea to the "officially dead" list in January in the absence of information "that would indicate they might still be alive."

About 6300 persons now are carried on Army rolls as missing in action. The Army will check further into the cases of the remaining 2300 listed as missing.

The Military Missing Persons Act provides that 12 months after a man is listed as missing in action the service shall review the case to find out if the man "may reasonably be presumed to be living" or should be declared dead.

FRENCH CAPTURE MAJOR BASE FROM INDOCHINA REDS

By LARRY ALLEN

DIEN BIEN PHU, Indochina, Nov. 21 (AP)—Thousands of French and Viet Namese paratroopers have jumped deep into mountain territory of the Communist-led Vietminh to grab a major base for new raids on their guerrilla foes.

French Union forces, supported by United States-supplied fighter bombers, yesterday seized Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi. Another force parachuted into the area today.

Dien Bien Phu, captured by the Vietminh last winter, had been one of the take-off points for its invasion of Laos. Observers had speculated that the Red march into Laos might be resumed this winter or next spring.

Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in north Indochina, said the capture provides a center of the rallying and training of partisan fighters from the pro-French Thai tribes and for raids by them and the French forces on the Vietminh. It also removes a major threat to the Thai tribal capital of Lai Chau, 50 miles to the north. The Vietminh failed to capture Lai Chau in their sweeping offensive last winter which seized large areas of the Thai country.

The captured Vietminh base is in the center of a rice-growing area and at the crossroads of supply routes to the northeast and to the south.

Cogny said the French dropped "many battalions" on the broad plain around Dien Bien Phu and that they quickly captured the town and its airfield. Fighter bombers flew more than 100 sorties against the area.

In previous paratroop raids deep in enemy territory, the French have withdrawn after destroying enemy arms and stores. This time, said Cogny, they would remain and be reinforced.

The French claimed to have inflicted heavy casualties on the Red-commanded rebels. It was believed the Reds had about one regiment of 3000 men around the town. A full Vietminh division, No. 316, is based about 50 miles to the east.

Cogny said he felt certain most of the Thais in the large areas now held by the Vietminh would rally quickly to the partisan bands the French plan to raise. He predicted that by stages they would retake their tribal territory south of the Chinese border which the Vietminh had seized.

OPPOSES KEEPING TROOPS IN EUROPE INDEFINITELY AS FRENCH DEMAND

Foreign Office Says Treaty Will Call for 'Close Association With EDC Without Joining It.'

LONDON, Nov. 21 (UP)—The Foreign Office said today that Britain will tie itself, by a formal treaty, to the European Defense Community, but will resist French efforts at the forthcoming Bermuda conference to pledge indefinite maintenance of British troops in Europe.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, who yesterday made a ringing demand in the French national assembly for French approval of the European army pact, said he will press at Bermuda for "precise assurances" from both Britain and United States.

The French want United States and British troops to remain in Europe as a guarantee that a rearmed West Germany won't attempt to secede from the EDC and make its rearmed forces an independent, national army.

"Close Association."

A British Foreign Office spokesman confirmed Bidault's announcement that Britain has agreed to a treaty of "close association with the EDC without joining it."

But he said Britain cannot commit itself to maintain troops on the Continent at any specified level for an indefinite period.

Government spokesmen emphasized that Britain, which maintains large forces in Europe at present, "has no intention of withdrawing them in the foreseeable future."

The United States also has reassured member nations of the EDC that it has no present intention to sharply reduce or withdraw its forces on the Continent.

"It is the desire of the British Government to have the closest possible association with the projected European Defense Community," a Foreign Office statement said. "The formal agreement arises from the declared policy of the British Government of close association with the EDC, short of joining it."

Negotiations Near End.

Negotiations looking to the formal treaty were said to have reached the final stage and are expected to be concluded shortly.

Terms of the agreement, it was understood, will call for very close co-operation of the British Air Force with that of the EDC, in addition to joint Army training, arms standardization and exchange of staff officers.

Bidault, who staked his political future on his demand for approval of the European army plan and other moves toward European unity, pinned much of his hopes to the British agreement.

Much of the previous French opposition has stemmed from Britain's aloof attitude toward plans for a unified continental defense force.

Bidault, who collapsed in the midst of the reading of the three-hours-long speech on which he had worked all night, was under doctors' orders today to have "absolute rest for 48 hours." But his physicians stressed that he was suffering no illness and had succumbed only to exhaustion and strain of overwork.

Pilot Flies 1327 Miles an Hour, Twice the Speed of Sound

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21 (AP) — Test pilot Scott Crossfield flew the needle-nosed Douglas Skyrocket twice the speed of sound yesterday in the fastest flight man has ever made.

The National Advisory Committee for aeronautics said Crossfield reached a top speed of 1327 miles an hour in the rocket-propelled aircraft or 2.01 times the speed of sound.

Speed in relation to sound is measured in mach numbers more accurately than in miles per hour, since the speed of sound varies with the temperature and the altitude. In air, at standard temperatures, sound speed ranges from 660 miles an hour at 30,000 feet to 760.9 miles an hour at sea level.

Flying the Skyrocket under power for only three minutes, Crossfield said that after climbing at a 45-degree angle "I did a nose over to reach level altitude or a slight dive" in making the record run.

"The physical sensation was no different than flying this airplane 100 or 200 m.p.h. less than this record speed," the pilot said. He has flown the Skyrocket about 50 times for the N.A.C.A.

Asked how he felt during the high speed run yesterday, Crossfield replied, "I had the stomach ache."

Only last week it was disclosed that Crossfield flew the Skyrocket 1272 miles an hour Oct. 14 for a new world speed record.

The previous mark was set by the same Skyrocket airplane, with Douglas test pilot William Bridgeman at the controls in August 1951, with a speed of 1238 miles an hour.

LIONESS PROTECTS TRAINER FROM TIGER, IS KILLED BY IT

ACQUI, Italy, Nov. 21 (UP)— An old lioness saved the life of wild animal trainer Leonida Casartelli last Tuesday by stopping a tiger that attacked the trainer. Yesterday the same young tiger killed the lioness.

Reger, the tiger, leaped at Casartelli when he slipped and fell during a performance of the Aurora circus here. Sultana, a lioness that had performed with the trainer for several years, threw her weight against the tiger, diverting his leap and stood guard over the man until he could retreat.

Yesterday, when the circus was getting ready to move, Reger attacked Sultana. Before Casartelli could intervene, the tiger had ripped open the lioness's throat and stomach.

NEW DEFENSES COST LESS BUT ARE SUPERIOR, WILSON ASSERTS

Secretary Compares Set-up to New Model Auto Selling for Less but Doing Better Job Than Old.

DETROIT, Nov. 21 AP)—Secretary Charles E. Wilson compares the Defense Department under his cost-cutting administration with a new model automobile "designed to sell for less, even though it is superior."

The former General Motors president told the Automobile Parts Manufacturers Association in a speech last night:

"Of course the new model is snappy and streamlined. It has more horsepower and better acceleration. The engine has a high compression head and new spark plugs. It has better lubrication and less internal friction.

"The model is designed to meet all requirements, and as usually claimed by the sales and advertising departments, it has better value per pound."

Criticizes Old Model.

At a press conference earlier, Wilson criticized the "old model" Defense Department as one in which "no one figured out what you would do with all of the military equipment purchased if there was no war."

He repeated a hope that "the expenditure rate for our total defense effort is at or near the peak."

Wilson said the Eisenhower Administration was making progress on its program of expanded national security with reduced expenditures and fewer personnel. He has been secretary nine months.

Wilson insisted national security would be maintained despite defense spending cuts contemplated and already in effect, saying:

"The fiscal 1954 budget for the Defense Department approved by Congress amounted to $34,500,000,000, more than $6,500,000,000 less than the budget recommended last January by the previous administration.

Increase in Strength.

"The Defense Department feels sure, with these new funds and other funds previously made available to it by Congress, a continuing increase in military strength can be achieved.

"We have no plans at present to increase the number of combat units of the Army, Navy and Marines. But we do plan on building up their military effectiveness with better equipment, some new weapons, and a better planning of reserve components. The strength of the Air Force is to continue to increase both through an increase in the number of combat wings and through better equipment."

Wilson said the nation's air arm will reach a strength of at least 115 wings by next June 30.

Army to Set Up Guard-Manned Anti-Aircraft Defense.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP) — The Army, in a move to strengthen the nation's air defenses, has decided to set up "minute man" anti-aircraft units manned by the National Guard around major cities, Pentagon officials said today.

The plan is to have national guard anti-aircraft battalions located with guns and equipment on sites around important population and industrial centers. At any warning of an enemy air attack, the guardsmen would speed to their gun positions from homes or jobs.

The "minute man" units eventually will be set up in 26 states, including Missouri and Illinois, with the first battalions located around the District of Columbia.

The plan, which will take several years to complete, calls for the National Guard to establish 91 "on site" anti-aircraft battalions, each with four batteries. To carry out the plan, several guard units will have to be relocated or have their missions changed.

As part of the program, the National Guard units will be equipped with the latest anti-aircraft weapons, including the "Nike," when it becomes available."

KOREA REPORTS 'CONCESSIONS' BY JAPAN ON BOUNDARIES

SEOUL, Nov. 21 (UP)—South Korean government sources said yesterday Japan has offered "major concessions" in an attempt to settle a long-standing territorial dispute between the two countries.

Informants close to President Syngman Rhee indicated the Japanese agreed to recognize "in principal" the controversial Rhee line which restricts Japanese fishermen from working in Korean waters. The compromise also reportedly said Japan would be willing to relinquish claims to properties held by the Japanese during their occupation of Korea.

CPL. EDWARD DICKENSON is embraced by his father, VAN BUREN DICKENSON, as his mother watches at left following his arrival at Washington today.

Family Leaves Virginia Mountains First Time in 25 Years to Greet Him.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (INS) —Cpl. Edward Dickenson, the G.I. who changed his mind and renounced Communism, received a tearful welcome today from his family on his arrival from California.

Dickenson was greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren Dickenson, and his 17-year-old sister, Rose, who came from their home in Crackers Neck, Va., to meet him.

As he stepped from his plane at Andrews Air Force Base early this morning, Mrs. Dickenson dashed toward him, shouting, as she did, "Bless the Lord. He brought my son back."

The father greeted his son with a hearty handshake, while his sister wept. It had been more than three years since they had last seen each other.

Young Dickenson, who is 23, was asked how he felt. "I feel wonderful," he replied. He said he has gained 12 to 13 pounds since he broke away from the Communist fold in Korea and crossed over to the United Nations lines.

Dickenson predicted that some of the 22 American G.I.s who have refused to return to the United States "will change their minds, if they ever get a chance to receive some explanations from our side." The men are now in custody of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission pending "explanations" by American personnel.

Dickenson was taken to Walter Reed Army Hospital for a physical checkup. After a few days there he was expected to go home for a visit.

Mrs. Dickenson, 44, told newspaper men while awaiting the plane's arrival from Travis Air Base that "I've prayed long and hard for this moment." She added: "Now all my prayers have been answered."

Dickenson's father, 73, said simply: "I just want to meet my boy." He is the father of 17 children, 13 of them living. Four of the children are by his present marriage, his second.

The Dickensons, who hadn't been away from their home in the southwestern Virginia mountains in 25 years, made the 450-mile trip to Washington by automobile arriving yesterday.

MOSSADEGH JEERS AT SUGGESTION THAT HE CONFESS

TEHRAN, Nov. 21 (AP)—Ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, on trial before an army court-martial on treason charges, laughed aside today a prosecution suggestion that he confess past misdeeds.

The suggestion was made by chief prosecutor Brig. Hossein Azemodeh at the opening of the twelfth session in the trial of the former dictator. He is accused of attempting to overthrow Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, defying royal decrees and illegally dissolving the lower house of parliament.

"I hope this man one day will rise and confess," Azemodeh told the court. The 73-year-old Mossadegh laughed scornfully and replied: "Oh, yes."

"If you stand up and confess to your past deeds, the first person to stand up and sacrifice ihmself for you will be me," the prosecutor declared.

Mossadegh's reply was an ironic "God help you."

Azemodeh continued to read the indictment against the former Premier, which court sources said will take three or four days.

TRUMAN REAPED HARVEST HE SOWED, RUSSIAN SAYS

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP) — A Soviet commentator said today that former President Harry Truman "reaped his own harvest" in the case involving the late Harry Dexter White.

Moscow radio broadcast a commentary by I. Artemov recalling that Truman introduced the loyalty oath when he was President and pushed the prosecution of Communist leaders in the United States.

"Thus," said Artemov, "Truman has harvested what he himself had sown."

The Soviet commentator said the Republicans brought up the White affair to divert attention from a series of G.O.P. setbacks in special elections.

"To save their positions," said Artemov, "the Republicans resorted to their favored trick—the fanning of the Red danger. This hysteria is being fanned to monstrous proportions."

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX RISE BACKED BY TWO IN G.O.P.

Eisenhower Unable to Win Reed and Carl Curtis Over to Delay in White House Talks.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP) —President Eisenhower failed today to win the support of two key House Republicans in an effort to postpone indefinitely the scheduled social security tax boost.

Representative Daniel A. Reed of New York, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee and Representative Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, chairman of the Social Security subcommittee, both said after a 90-minute White House conference that they still favor letting the increase to 2 per cent go into effect next Jan. 1 as scheduled. At present employes and employer each pay 1½ per cent on the first $3600 of wages.

"Personally, I don't want my party to be charged with depleting the reserve (a social security fund) which is for the protection of the people," Reed told reporters.

Curtis said he still held to his belief of last spring that the tax boost should go into effect. But he said that he "is in no sense rebellious."

Curtis says he believed the tax hike was necessary "to do justice to the social security program. He said that as of last spring, when he last made a sounding, the committee was fairly evenly divided on the matter.

Eisenhower recommended last May that the scheduled increase be postponed indefinitely pending a study of the whole social security program. He is expected to renew his request when Congress reconvenes in January.

KILLED BY BLAST OF TABLE SALT FROM SHOTGUN

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21 (AP) —A 24-year-old bakery employe was hit in the chest and killed last night by the blast of a shotgun shell filled with table salt.

The victim, Ernest Poor, died inside the doorway of the home of a woman friend. Sheriff's deputies said the woman's mother admitted firing the shot. Poor was less than five feet away at the time.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Sperling, 56, was held without bond on a preliminary charge of murder. Sgt. Richard Parker quoted her as saying: "I'd heard it was a good thing to do, to load them with salt. You can't get hurt that way."

Parker said the shooting apparently grew out of a dispute between Poor and the woman's daughter, Mrs. Betty Horton, 28, which ended their romance.

"Ernest said he'd get me if I'd try to quit him," Parker said he was told by Mrs. Horton, the mother of three children. Poor was a former convict.

Parker said the two women told him that Mrs. Horton had broken up with Poor after a date a week ago, but that he continued trying to see her.

WARREN SAYS POLITICS BALKS ENFORCEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) —Chief Justice Earl Warren has condemned what he terms "the withering hand of politics" in the law enforcement field.

In an address commencement exercises of the FBI National Academy, Warren paid tribute to the honest policeman, but said his work was frequently frustrated by "the withering hand of politics that comes down on the shoulder of the law enforcement officer."

"One of the greatest jobs facing this country," he said, "is to take that hand off.

"If that is done, we could raise our standards of law enforcement immeasurably."

Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers asked the 79 members of the graduating class, representing all parts of the country, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, to go back to their homes and help arouse public opinion against the dramatizing of criminal exploits in some radio and television programs, motion pictures and comic books.

Rogers asserted that "trash involving crime and sadism has flooded the markets in the form of comic books," and added:

"I am not suggesting censorship, but I do think there must be an awakening of enlightened public opinion to halt this trend toward glorifying crime and sadism."

Rogers, like the chief justice, touched on relationships between politics and crime.

"Organized criminals," said Rogers, "have made inroads not only into politics by supporting and financing crooked politicians but they also have invested great sums of money in legitimate business enterprises. Political organizations which accept financial support from crooks have no place in America."

ARTILLERY, MUSIC GREET YANKS NEAR BULGARIA BORDER

KOULA, Greece, Nov. 21 (AP)— Bulgarian border guards turned on a double-barrel barrage of music and gunfire for a group of visiting United States officers lunching at this tiny outpost near the heavily-fortified Greek-Bulgarian frontier.

The "reception" took place yesterday, during an inspection tour by visiting American officers headed by Brig. Gen. Frank Roberts, planning and operations officer for NATO's South European command.

ATLANTIC AIRLINER TURNS BACK AFTER FALSE FIRE ALARM

GANDER, N.F., Nov. 21 (AP) —A Europe-bound Trans World Air Lines Constellation with 57 passengers aboard returned to Gander early today after what appears to have been a false fire alarm 500 miles out over the Atlantic.

The big airliner was Flight 966, out of Philadelphia and New York and bound for London and Frankfurt.

TWA said a fire indicator on the plane flashed a warning signal from one engine shortly after 9 p.m. The pilot radioed there was no smoke or flame, but officials said he was instructed to return as a precautionary measure for a mechanical check.

(There have been cases where short circuits in an airliner's fire control system have caused fire warnings to flash when no fire exists.)

Skull of 'Piltdown Man' Called Phony, Partly of Ape Bones

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP) — Three sleuthing British scientists declared today the skull of the fabulous "Piltdown man," accepted for 40 years by many of the world's top anthropologists as a relic of man's earliest history, is a phony.

They branded the relic the product of a "most elaborate and carefully prepared hoax," partly faked from ape bones.

Charles Dawson, an attorney and amateur antiquarian, discovered part of the skull in a southern England gravel pit in 1911. In the next two years he produced from the same pit a jawbone and a tooth which some anthropologists said established the skull's age as at least 100,000 and perhaps 600,000 years old.

Dawson died in 1916 and a monument to his discovery now stands in the Sussex fields near the gravel pit where he found fame.

Today's challenge came from Dr. K. P. Oakley of the British Museum and two Oxford University professors, Dr. J. E. Weiner and Dr. W. E. Le Gros Clark. They reported in the Bulletin of the British Museum that up-to-the-minute chemical tests have proved the jawbone and tooth to be deliberate fakes.

Both jaw and tooth, they said, came from a modern ape. Since apes don't live in Sussex that means they must have been planted.

The tooth, the investigators said, had been artificially pared down to disguise its original shape, and the jaw had been stained with bichromate of potash and iron to match the coloring of other skull pieces.

The cranium itself is a genuine fossil, the scientists said, but they put its age at 50,000 years, less than half the previous widely held minimum.

The investigators said their exposure "clarifies very considerably the problem of human evolution" because the odd shape of the Piltdown jaw had long baffled the experts.

G.O.P. CHAIRMAN SAYS WHITE CASE HAS AIDED PARTY

'Tremendous Lift,' Hall Comments — Democrats Doubt Effects Will Be Lasting.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) —Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today the Harry Dexter White case has given a "tremendous lift" to the G.O.P. in advance of next year's congressional election campaigns.

But Democratic Senators said they doubt any advantage the Republicans may have gained will be lasting. They predicted the Administration's farm, tax and spending programs will be regarded by the voters as far more important.

Hall said in an interview he believes the charges of laxity toward Communists in Government, made by Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. against former President Truman, "have helped us."

"The impression I have gained by talking to people all over the country is that this matter has given a tremendous lift to our organization," he said.

Back on Offensive.

Although Hall did not say so, he apparently holds the view that Brownell's sensational charges—that Truman promoted White despite FBI reports on White's alleged espionage activities—put the Republicans back on the offensive after they lost special congressional elections in Wisconsin and New Jersey.

Among others commenting on the political effects of the White case, Senator Smathers (Dem.), Florida, said in an interview:

"The Republicans can't ride on this issue into next November's campaign. They are going to have to produce some results on some of the pressing problems that confront the country. Unless they do, the aren't going to win."

Senator John Marshall Butler (Rep.), Maryland, interviewed by CBS on "Capitol Cloakroom" last night, commented, "There's a great deal of Communism in government today and it's going to take time to dig it out.

Senator Hoey (Dem.), North Carolina, said he thought the whole thing would be pretty well forgotten by next November, Hoey added: "The farmers have not been so impressed by the White case as to lose hight of the problems they face. I thought before and I still think that the Democrats are going to win control of Congress because the Republicans haven't found solutions for the country's problems."

'Hit-and-Run' Charges.

Senator Kerr (Dem.), Oklahoma said in a Dallas (Tex.) speech last night that Republican leaders are acting like "a bunch of political hit-and-run drivers, making charges today and then running away; making promises today and then fading away."

"The President himself, at his last press conference, tried to knock some sense into the heads of these reckless men," Kerr declared. "The President flatly and courageously repudiated the statement of the Republican National Chairman that the top issue of 1954 would be the 'exposure of Communist infiltration of the previous Administration'."

President Eisenhower said at his press conference Wednesday he hopes the Communist-in-government issue would be only a memory in next year's campaign.

Kerr said the Eisenhower Administration ought to act to prevent a depression which might breed more Communists.

Proposes FBI Send Reports on Appointees to Senate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP) — Senator Johnston (Dem.), South Carolina, today urged that Federal Bureau of Investigation reports on all future appointments made by Presidents be sent to Senate committees to prevent another Harry Dexter White from ever getting a high government post.

Johnston, a member of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee which is investigating the White and other spies-in-government cases, said he will formally introduce his proposal in the next session of Congress.

"I wonder why the FBI sent no report on White to the Senate Banking Committee that approved him in 1946," Johnston told reporters. "That's where his appointment could have been easily and quickly stopped."

He said FBI reports should be sent to the chairman and at least one member of each party on the committee. Such a practice, he said, would have blocked the late Harry Dexter White's promotion from Assistant Treasury Secretary to United States director on the International Monetary Fund in 1946.

Johnston said if a committee finds unfavorable material in the FBI report, it could call the nominee into closed session and confront him with the charges. Now, he said, "FBI reports are sacred, and only a few read them and put their own interpretation on them."

At present, agency heads receive FBI reports on prospective appointees. They evaluate them and generally tell the committees whether there is any derogatory information. The FBI does not send the reports directly to the committees.

Velde Says Truman 'Has History of Disrespect' for Committees.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 21 (AP)—Representative Harold H. Velde (Rep.), Illinois, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, last night accused former President Truman of "hiding, backtracking and preventing prosecution of spies and subversives."

Velde said, "Truman has a long history of disrespect for congressional committees."

"I deemed it essential that we question the person who has the information we wanted and to which the American people are entitled," he asserted at a meeting sponsored by the Winnebago County Republican Women's Club.

'Guilt by Subpena' Assailed by Arthur Garfield Hays.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21 (UP) —An American Civil Liberties Union officer says congressional investigators into Communism are establishing "guilt by subpena."

Arthur Garfield Hays, the group's general counsel, addressed an audience in a Roman Catholic church social center last night.

The ACL had been denied the use of two other halls including the state-owned War Memorial, because the American Legion in Indiana charged the group with having Communist sympathies.

Hays took issue with Attorney General Herbert Brownell's testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in the Harry Dexter White case.

"The most serious part of the controversy is for Brownell to announce that White was proven to be a spy," Hays said. "I'm beginning to be fearful of inroads into what has heretofore been a judicial function. We have caught no spies through the loyalty program, but spread timidity and fear."

ITALY TELLS WEST OF POSITIVE VIEW ON TRIESTE TALKS

ROME, Nov. 21 (AP) — Italy advised the Big Three Western powers today that it takes a "positive and constructive attitude" toward a five-power conference aimed at settling its quarrel with Yugoslavia over Trieste.

The Foreign Ministry announced this in a communique shortly after Prime Minister Giuseppe Pella presented the Italian position to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France.

"The talks concerned the soundings presently in course in the Trieste question," the communique said. "They also gave an opportunity to communicate the positive and constructive attitude of Italy regarding an Allied suggestion of Nov. 13 for a five-power conference for the definitive settlement of the entire Trieste free territory problem."

Pella conferred, separately with United States Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, French Ambassador Jacques Fouques Duparc and British Ambassador Sir Ashley Clarke.

JOSEPH H. ROSENBAUM FREED IN PERJURY CASE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) —The perjury cases growing out of the 1950-51 Senate investigation of alleged influenec in Reconstruction Finance Corp. operations have wound up with a score of two convictions and two acquittals.

Joseph H. Rosenbaum, a Washington attorney and the last of those indicted t be brought to trial, was acquitted late yesterday by a jury in United States District Court here.

Rosenbaum was accused of swearing falsely when he denied before investigating Senators that he had boasted of being "closely connected" with William E. Willett, then an RFC director.

The Senate investigators brought out that Rosenbaum paid for a $9450 mink coat for Mrs. E. Merl Young, then a White House stenographer. Young, linked by the Senators to a "web of influence" in RFC operations, said he borrowed the money to pay for his wife's coat from Rosenbaum, and paid him back.

Young and his brother, Herschel Young, were convicted of lying during the inquiry. Robert W. Dudley, another Washington lawyer, was acquitted.

Patton Tanks Found Defective In Europe, Two U.S. Plants Shut

Drive Mechanism Fails After Considerable Field Service, Says Company Making Them.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Nov. 21 (AP)—The American Locomotive Co. said today reports of mechanical failures in its M-47 Patton tanks in Europe had resulted in a voluntary shutdown of two of the firm's upstate New York plants.

An Alco spokesman said failures had been reported in final drive mechanisms turned out by five manufacturers on subcontracts for Alco and Chrysler Corp.

The Albany Knickerbocker News said a spokesman for the House Armed Services Committee in Washington had quoted an Army Ordnance official as saying "an important part" of the M-47 tank had been found defective by Army standards.

No Firm Singled Out.

The Alco spokesman said "the reported failures apparently were not confined to the final drive produced by any one manufacturer." One of the five subcontractors was Alco's own plant at Auburn, the spokesman said.

In layoffs beginning last Friday, 120 workers on three shifts at the Auburn plant and about 1450 workers at the Schenectady tank assembly plant were made idle. Production has been resumed at Auburn, but Alco said it could not be determined when final assembly would get under way again at Schenectady.

Alco said "the reported failures are just now beginning to show up in most cases after considerable service life." The firm has made M-47s for three years. Chrysler has ended production of the Pattons.

Designed by Army.

The Alco spokesman asserted manufacture of the drive mechanisms was according to Army design and subject to full Army inspection. He declared the Army had not rejected any drives at the Auburn plant.

The spokesman said it was expected that the problem would be solved at a meeting in Detroit on Monday

He did not say who would attend.

The Knickerbocker News quoted the House Armed Services Committee spokesman as saying: "Due to field failures, ordnance inspectors rejected the part, closing the (Auburn) plant." The Schnectady plant blamed its layoffs on a shortage of tank parts.

EYEGLASSES SHORT IN RUSSIA, PRAVDA SCOLDS MINISTRY

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)— Copies of Pravda reaching here from Moscow report that no eye glasses are being sold in many cities of Russia. The Soviet paper says the leaders of the Soviet Ministry of Health are being more near-sighted than the persons with defective vision they are supposed to provide for. It gives these examples:

Kiev student Victor Kruitkov made a journey to Leningrad to see the sights and broke his glasses on the way. Because he could get no new glasses in Leningrad he had to grope his way through the city's museums.

Worker Alexandra Krutikova overfulfilled her production norms at her textile factory in Leningrad until she broke her glasses. Now she can't get new ones and is turning out shoddy goods against her will.

The paper says the situation is the same in many other cities. It quotes an official of the ministry of health as admitting only half the demand for glasses is being met.

GUIANA'S DEPOSED PREMIER EXPLAINS DISPUTE TO NEHRU

NEW DELHI, Nov. 21 (AP) — Cheddi Jagan, deposed leftist prime minister of British Guiana, laid his dispute with Britain before Prime Minister Nehru today in a 45-minute interview. He was accompanied by his formed education minister, L. F. S. Burnham.

Although there was no immediate reaction from the Indian Prime Minister, he previously had said India was "in no position to give practical aid."

Jagan, who is of Indian descent, arrived here last night with the announced intention of asking the Indian Government to take their case to the United Nations.

Britain kicked Jagan and five other People's Progressive Party ministers out of office Oct. 9, charging them with plotting to turn British Guiana into a Communist state.

CANADIAN FORCES WILL BE HIGHEST PAID IN WORLD

Effective Dec. 1, under a schedule of increases announced yesterday, the top senior and the low junior ranks in the three Canadian services will take over the pay check lead from their counterparts in the United States forces.

This is the first time in two years that Canadian servicemen have received an increase. It ranges from $5 to $100 a month. For officers, it will amount to about a 10 per cent hike, for men, about 8½ per cent.

A private first class will get $107 a month, compared with $99.37 for the American pfc.

Rear admirals, major-generals and air vice marshals will get $981. American major generals get $963.30.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 21—In two moves unprecedented in United Nations history, a Communist diplomat walked out last night as chairman of a committee of the General Assembly when the committee prepared to censure him, in effect, for misconduct in the chair.

These actions were the climax of two days of debate—sometimes angry, sometimes hilarious—in the assembly's Legal Committee on the question: How a committee chairman should address a U.N. delegate.

It all began with a protest Thursday, initiated by the United States, against the behavior of the committee's chairman, Communist Poland's Julius Katz-Suchy. Katz-Suchy refused to address Dr. Shuhsi Hsu, representing Nationalist China, as "the delegate from China" and insisted on calling him "Dr. Hsu."

When it became obvious that a majority of the Legal Committee was about to vote in favor of a proposal calling Katz-Suchy to account, he repeated his refusal to change his practice and left the chair. Outside the meeting, he told reporters he was going to get "a drink of water." Instead, he picked up his coat and presumably went home.

The committee then went on to adopt a resolution declaring: ". . . When official business is being conducted, it is the duty of the chairman and all other officers of the committee to treat all members of the committee as representatives of their respective countries and not as private persons."

The vote on this declaration was 35 in favor, 6 against, 9 abstaining and 10 not participating. The United States, of course, was among those approving the declaration. The opposition consisted of the five-nation Communist bloc and India.

Behind the affair lay the whole history of Communist efforts to unseat Nationalist China in the U.N. in favor of Red China. Involved, for the future, is the "gentlemen's agreement" under which Soviet bloc nations have been given one of the seven major committee chairmanships each session.

The Soviet zone's Berliner Illustriete said she is "a superblonde offensive against culture," whose charms are used to make Americans forget rising prices and other "evils" of American life.

EASE DOWNTOWN BAR ON PARKING IN SLACK HOURS, MERCHANTS URGE

Downtown merchants yesterday asked the Board of Aldermen to permit curb parking along one-way streets during off-peak hours. The request was opposed by city officials, traffic engineers and the Chamber of Commerce, which proposed the master traffic plan now in effect.

More than 150 merchants in a group of 387 who had signed petitions asking that the parking bar be modified appeared before the aldermanic committee on traffic regulations.

They contend they had suffered a substantial loss in business since the parking bar became effective, because, they said, fewer people were driving into the downtown area.

Wouldn't Interfere, He Says.

John A. Mavrakos, operator of a candy store chain, who acted as spokesman for the group, told the aldermen that parking on the left side of one-way streets could be permitted between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily without interference to the operation of the master traffic plan.

He cited small numbers of automobiles driving east on Olive street and west on Locust street between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on a recent Saturday as evidence that parking could be permitted without causing congestion.

Other merchants said sales were down considerably and that customers told them there was no reason to come downtown because of lack of places to park.

J. Herndon Kirkland, operator of a travel bureau and luggage shop, said the trial of the master traffic plan "has been unfair and costly" to the merchants. He contended the city should have established off-street parking facilities before the plan was placed in effect.

Other Groups Back Charge.

Communications in favor of permitting parking between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. were received from the Real Estate Board, the St. Louis Restaurant Association and the Small Business Council.

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, who was out of town, addressed a letter to the aldermanic committee in opposition to the proposal. He said the master traffic control plan has not been in effect long enough to determine whether it will be helpful or harmful on a long-range basis.

There is every indication that the plan has been of great assistance in solving the traffic problem, he wrote, and has made it easier for people to get downtown.

Mayor Tucker added that he could see no substantiation for the arguments that parking bars were the major reason for declining sales. He said a general decline in business had been further aggravated in St. Louis by a lengthy construction strike and by the drouth in the Midwest. He pointed out that parking prohibitions had ben in effect on Pine, Locust and Olive streets before the master plan was adopted.

He urged the construction of off-street parking facilities and pledged the efforts of the city administration to assist in that.

Chamber Opposes Plan.

Howard F. Baer, vice chairman of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, opposed the proposal to permit parking. He said traffic lanes appeared clear because vehicles were moving. Almost all streets in the area are four-lane streets and parking operations would effectively reduce vehicle movements to two lanes.

City Counselor Samuel H. Liberman stated the trend of shoppers away from the downtown area was in effect long before the traffic plan was adopted and that it was the earlier congestion which caused that trend. This could be reversed, he said, only by encouraging larger numbers of shoppers to use mass transportation facilities to come downtown.

Carl Giessow, director of the Chamber of Commerce transportation bureau, Director of Streets and Sewers Frank Kriz, and Robert B. Brooks, former Director of Streets and Sewers and former member of the Missouri State Highway Commission, said that the proposal to permit parking on the downtown streets would be a "backward step."

The committee took the proposal under advisement. Chairman Everett J. Taylor said the committee would meet again on Dec. 4 to discuss the matter.

CONFECTIONERY OPERATOR ROBBED OF $850 BY PAIR

Angelo Castro, operator of a confectionery at 3100 Laclede avenue, reported to police he was robbed of $850 last night by two men who entered while he was alone in the store.

Both were Negroes. One flourished a revolver while the other took $150 from a cash register and $700 from Castro's billfold. They fled south on Cardinal avenue, Castro said.

Harry Neubauer reported he was held up by two armed youths in his grocery at 1147 North Kingshighway several hours later. The robbers forced Neubauer, his brother, John, and a clerk to lie on the floor while they took $180 from a register, Neubauer said.

DIAMOND BRACELET MISSING

Mrs. Albert Greenburg, Tulsa, Okla., reported to police today that she had lost a platinum bracelet valued at $10,000 somewhere in St. Louis.

Mrs. Greenburg, who is staying at the Park Plaza Hotel with her husband, said she had visited a country club on Conway road, St. Louis county, and then a restaurant at Kingshighway and Delmar boulevard. The bracelet, which has four rows of small diamonds on it, was insured.

CAFE GETS BACK 'A' RATING

Cafferata's Cafe, 4502 Delmar boulevard, had its "A" rating restored yesterday after being in the "C" category since Sept. 18, Health Commissioner J. Earl Smith announced today. Obsolete equipment, which was the reason cited for the "C" rating, has been replaced, the commissioner's office said.

NEW DELHI, Nov. 21 (AP)—India and Pakistan exchanged in "a cordial atmosphere" yesterday 24 prisoners taken during their fighting in Kashmir, the Indian Defense Ministry announced.

SCHOOL ENGINEER DIES OF WOUND

Louis E. Proske Found in Park—Was Witness in Fund Investigation.

Louis E. Proske, a St. Louis Board of Education supervising engineer and a witness in the board's recent investigation into welfare fund solicitations, died yesterday at City Hospital about two hours after he was found unconscious in Forest Park with a bullet wound in the head and a revolver in his hand.

Proske was found by a park employe about 11 a.m. near a bench between West Pine and Lindell boulevards about 100 feet west of Kingshighway. Two shots had been fired from the revolver. He was 62 years old and lived at 4458 Beethoven avenue. A note in his pocket indicated he had been in ill health recently.

Last August in a building committee investigation Proske testified he refused to give a $15 contribution solicited by Philip C. Brante, assistant commissioner of school buildings, and denied reports he had resigned his post. Brante denied he had solicited Proske. Another note found in Proske's pocket read, "Phil Brante and Leo Comer made it hard for me." Leo J. Comer is an employe of the building department. A third note, partially illegible, apparently referred to the investigation.

In testifying about the solicitation, Proske said Brante came up to him and "demanded the money," without telling him the purpose. Proske said he told Brante, "I will not subscribe to any lug and will not buy my job from anybody."

Concerning his reported resignation, Proske testified Building Commissioner V. Harry Rhodes came to him and said, "I accept your resignation. Go down and pick up your last paycheck." The engineer said he continued working on advice of the board's attorneys, because he had not submitted a resignation and Rhodes had not fired him.

Proske had been employed by the Board of Education about eight years.

EAST SIDE AIRMAN KILLED IN B-29 CRASH

Airman, first class, Charles R. Kessel of Edwardsville was one of four service men killed yesterday when a B-29 bomber crashed and burned at Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso, Tex. Five other crew members were injured.

The crash occurred when the pilot attempted to regain altitude after undershooting the runway. He tried to land after one of the four engines conked out when the bomber was on a target towing mission. The four dead men were trapped in the blazing wreckage. Those injured were thrown clear of the wreckage.

Kessel, 22 years old, was the son of Louis J. Kessel, formerly of Edwardsville, who now lives at Largo, Fla. The dead youth enlisted in the Air Force shortly after being graduated from Edwardsville High School in 1950. The body will be returned to Edwardsville for burial. Three brothers and sisters of the youth live there.

ALDERMAN W. K. GARDNER GAINS 5 VOTES ON RECOUNT

Alderman William K. Gardner, Democrat, picked up five additional votes in a recount of ballots cast in three precincts of the Twenty-fifth Ward election last April, the Board of Election Commissioners reported to Circuit Judge David A. McMullan yesterday.

Judge McMullan ordered the recount after a hearing last month on a petition by the Republican candidates, John E. Curby, who lost to Gardner by a vote of 3739 to 3744. Curby had charged no fraud but errors and irregularities in the original count.

In the recount, Gardner lost three votes but Curby lost eight, increasing Gardner's margin of victory by 10 votes. However, 14 ballots still are disputed and Judge McMullan will schedule a hearing to determine their validity. The ballots are contested by Curby because of improper markings.

Death of Adm. F. H. Kelley.

PURSUED SPEEDER WINDS UP TRAPPED IN UPSET AUTO

A youth who thought he could out-distance the police ended upside down and trapped in his wrecked automobile after a high-speed chase early today.

Sgt. John Dolan, Patrolmen John Long and Harold Richmann reported they saw a black convertible speed through a stop sign on Grand boulevard at Holly Hills avenue. An eight-block chase followed at speeds up to 65 miles an hour, ending when the pursued machine struck a light standard in the 6100 block of Coronado avenue and turned over, wheels spinning in the air.

Neighborhood residents, roused by the crash, helped the officers pry a door open and free Robert Reising, 18 years old, and a companion, 17. Both were treated for lacerations and Reising was booked suspected of destruction of city property, speeding, and the stop sign violation. "I thought I could out-run the police," Reising told the desk sergeant.

Airliner Pioneering New Schedule Crosses U.S. in Less Than 7 Hours

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP) — Coast-to-coast flight became a non-stop hop of less than seven hours for the newest commercial airliner yesterday.

Flying a new Douglas DC-7, American Airlines pioneered a new non-stop schedule in a flight from Los Angeles to New York that took six hours and 38 minutes.

The plane, carrying 59 passengers and five crewmen, was helped by favorable winds part of the way.

Jets Fly From San Francisco to Los Angeles in 30 Minutes.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two Air Force F86D Sabre Jets have brought San Francisco and Los Angeles within commuting distance of each other.

North American Aviation, Inc., builder of the planes, disclosed the jets flew from San Francisco to Los Angeles in a half hour yesterday. That's the fastest time between the cities, the best previous being 32 minutes, 56 seconds, set in 1950 by a North American F86 Sabre Jet.

Capts. Robert W. Campbell and J. R. Mitchell, both from the Hamilton Air Force base, both exceeded the old mark, helped by a 115-mile-an-hour tailwind. Capt. Campbell made it in 29 minutes, 25 seconds; Capt. Mitchell, a Korean veteran, landed one minute later. They took off at the same time and flew at 25,000 to 28,000 feet, landing at Los Angeles International Airport, about 330 air miles from the starting point.

MAYOR PLEASED OVER RESPONSE TO CITY TAX PLEA

He Completes Tour of North Missouri in Effort to Win Support for Earnings Levy.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HANNIBAL, Mo., Nov. 21—Mayor Raymond R. Tucker of St. Louis said he was highly pleased by the favorable response he has been receiving from rural legislators to his plea for continuation of the city's earnings tax, after completing his tour of North Missouri yesterday.

Although Tucker has not solicited specific pledges of support, most of the outstate legislators he met with this week at Chillicothe, Kirksville and here indicated they would vote to continue the city's authority to levy the tax if Gov. Phil M. Donnelly calls the General Assembly into special session.

Five of the eight northeast Missouri members of the state asembly, with whom Tucker and former Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann met yesterday, said they would help pass the city's important revenue measure to help St. Louis place its municipal finances on a sound basis, although several said they would favor amendment of the bill. None stated definitely he would vote against it.

Hopeful of Another Session.

Tucker told the group he is hopeful Gov. Donnelly will soon call another special session to consider the city's financial needs, because the earnings tax is scheduled to expire next April 1. Loss of the $8,000,000-a-year in earnings tax revenues will necessitate a one-third reduction in the city payroll, and a 40 per cent curtailment in city services, he said.

Tucker urged that the city's authority to levy the tax be continued on a permanent basis, declaring it was impossible to complete plans for long-range civic improvements without assurances of stable revenue. The city, he said, wants to continue the tax at the present rate of one-half of 1 per cent.

Representative Olliver W. Nolen of Monroe county, who declared he would support the city's revenue measure, suggested that the present permissible rate of 1 per cent be retained, in event there should be a need in the future to increase the levy.

He also said that if an amendment were offered to exempt non-residents from the tax he would vote for it. But regardless of whether that amendment were adopted, Nolen declared he would still vote for the bill.

Mayor's View of Amendment.

Tucker explained that such an amendment would make the bill unconstitutional. Speaking on this point, Assistant City Counselor Aubrey B. Hamilton, pointed out that the present levy is in the nature of an excise tax on income earned in the city, regardless of the residence of the worker. If the tax was limited to residents, he said, it would become a straight income tax on residents only and would undoubtedly be declared by the courts to be discriminatory because a non-resident employe performing the same work in the city would not have to pay.

"You know what your city's needs are, and I am going to help," Nolen said. "I won't do anything to strangle St. Louis."

Representative C. D. Hamilton of Ralls county, who also declared he favored continuation of the tax, said he thought an amendment to exempt non-residents who regularly earn their livelihood in the city was "highly unfair." Such persons, he said, should help to pay for municipal services provided for their benefit.

Representative Roy D. Hamlin of Hannibal, Democratic floor leader in the House, also declared he was willing to help St. Louis solve its financial difficulties. But he said he thought the present law was "inequitable" because the tax is levied against the gross earnings of individuals and only on the net profits of corporations.

Assistant City Counselor Hamilton explained that the profit of many large firms in St. Louis is less than one-half of 1 per cent of their gross receipts, and that a change would wipe out their profits and force businesses from the city.

New Expiration Date.

State Senator William M. Quinn of Maywood expressed the opinion that the Missouri Senate would want to place another expiration date on any earnings tax renewal measure. Otherwise, he said, similar taxing authority might have to be extended to other Missouri cities. Quinn did not declare how he would vote on the tax measure.

Tucker and Kaufmann will resume their trip next week. They will meet with central Missouri legislators Monday at Jefferson City and Tuesday at Sedalia. After winding up their tour the following week with meetings at St. Louis, Cape Girardeau and Poplar Bluff, Tucker will call on Gov. Donnelly to renew his request for a special session.

MAN IN DISPUTE WITH WIFE KILLED BY SON

Youth, 16, Tells Police He Didn't Think Shotgun Was Loaded.

Eric Moore, a mail baggage handler, was shot and killed last night when his 16-year-old son, James, intervened in a dispute between Moore and his wife, Leona, at their home, 1708 Papin street.

Mrs. Moore told police her husband, who had been drinking, came home and started an argument with her. The son, sleeping upstairs, was aroused.

James came downstairs carrying a shotgun, she said. He pointed it at his father and told him to stop abusing his mother. When Moore started toward James, she said, the weapon was discharged. The charge struck Moore in the chest.

The son, who was booked suspected of delinquency by reason of homicide, said he had not thought the gun was loaded and had meant only to frighten his father. Moore was 40 years old. James is employed by a grocery store. The Moores have two daughters.

$312,906 BID APPEARS LOW ON HOUSING REFRIGERATORS

Nash-Kelvinator Corp. yesterday submitted a bid of $312,906 to supply and install 2893 refrigerators in apartments now being constructed for two public housing projects in the DeSoto-Carr area. This apparently was the low bid in its category.

Seven firms bid on refrigerators for the M-4 (Pruitt Homes) and M-5 projects. Inasmuch as the St. Louis Housing Authority requested separate bids covering delivery with and without installation in five categories, some time will be required to evaluate all the bids submitted.

Bids on gas stoves were received earlier in the week. Phillips & Buttorff Manufacturing Co., with a $157,639 proposal, apparently submitted the lowest of seven bids.

Only one bid was received for public liability insurance to cover all St. Louis Housing Authority properties. This was for $27,141 on a three-year policy with $25,000 and $50,000 limits, submitted by A. J. Cervantes for Riverside Insurance Co. of America. Whether a lone bid is acceptable is to be decided by the Federal Public Housing Administration.

GETS 30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR KILLING DIVORCED WIFE

Arlie Mercer of Granite City was sentenced today by Circuit Judge Quinten Spivey at Edwardsville to 30 years in prison for the murder of his divorced wife, Virgie Irene Mercer.

Mercer, employe of a Granite City steel plant, pleaded guilty to the charge Monday. He admitted he shot Mrs. Mercer last July 30 after she refused to remarry him.

The shooting occurred at her home, 2231 Missouri avenue, Granite City. He crawled through a window, fired a shot from a rifle as she stood on a stairway. Police said he then fired one shot at himself but the bullet only grazed his head. Mercer, 55 years old, lived in the 2000 block of Cleveland avenue.

CANADIAN HELD HERE ADMITS PASSING $9000 BAD CHECKS

A man who said he was Robert B. Simmons, a Canadian, has admitted passing about $9000 in bogus checks on a trip between Seattle, Wash., and here, police announced today.

Simmons was arrested with a man companion and both were held for immigration authorities suspected of overstaying their visit in this country when they said they were from Vancouver, British Columbia. Simmons, who said he was an ex-convict, passed four worthless checks totaling $203 here, police reported.

TRUCK FIRM OWNER ROBBED

Ben Needles, operator of the Needles & Son Hauling and Express Co., 222 Delmar boulevard, was robbed of $170 today by an armed man who locked him in a washroom after the holdup.

Needles told police a Negro with a revolver came into his office, pulled him out of a chair and took the money from his billfold. The man then pushed him in a washroom and locked the door, Needles said. Needles knocked on the wall and was released by an employe.

3 HELD, $18,500 RECOVERED IN BOURBON HOLDUP

fore Miss Elvira Fellner, United States Commissioner at East St. Louis, who set their arrignment for 10:30 a.m. Tuesday on the bank robbery warrant, issued by United States Commissioner Edwin J. Bean of St. Louis. They then were taken to City Jail.

Heirman is reported to have moved from St. Louis to Centralia last August with his wife, a beauty shop operator. They leased two floors of a building, saying they intended to operate a massage and beauty parlor on the first floor. They failed to open the business, and Heirman's wife left Centralia. Heirman continued to occupy the apartment, and Johnson is reported to have been staying with him recently.

The robbers forced their victims to lie on the floor and bound the hands of two of them with tape. One robber held a pistol to the back of Assistant Cashier Earl Baldwin, forcing him to open the vault. The money, all in currency, was taken from a safe in the vault and from tellers' cages.

In their flight, the robbers eluded State Police and local county officers, who quickly set up roadblocks. They apparently transferred from the stolen automobile to a second machine in a wooded area near Richwoods, where the stolen machine was found.

OPEN VERDICT IS RETURNED IN BERKELEY MAN'S DEATH

An open verdict was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury at Clayton in the death of James Winningham, unemployed odd jobs man, whose body was found Thursday in the kitchen of his home at 8900 Weldon avenue, Berkeley.

Dr. Walter G. Rice, coroner's pathologist, testified that Winningham, 57 years old, had a bullet wound in his chest but that it was superficial and had not penetrated the chest cavity. Dr. Rice said he believed the wound was not sufficient to cause death.

The pathologist said Winningham had pneumonia of the right lung, apparently the cause of death. The bullet, from a small caliber pistol, had broken two ribs, Dr. Rice said. Two men and three youths were being held in St. Louis county jail at Clayton for questioning in the case, sheriff's deputies said. No powder burns were found on the body, Dr. Rice testified.

Fifth Straight 35-Cent Quarterly Dividend—Stockholders Get 10 Pct. for 1953.

The 35-cent quarterly dividend declared yesterday by the St. Louis Public Service Co. marked the fifth straight dividend of that amount and brought the total earnings on common stock for 1953 to a record high of $1.40 a share.

Last year payments to stockholders totaled $1.10, or 10 cents more than had ever been paid before.

Stock of the streetcar and bus company has been selling at around $13.75 a share on the Midwest Exchange at Chicago. Earnings to stockholders thus will amount to more than 10 per cent for 1953.

The company's record dividents followed initiation of a 20-cent cash fares and other fare increases in November, 1952. Before that, an increase from 15 to 17 cents a ride had gone into effect in March, 1952.

$2,000,000 Payment.

Dividend payments this year will total slightly more than $2,000,000, on the basis of outstanding shares at the end of 1952. This compares with $1,608,672 in dividends paid last year.

National City Lines, Inc., of Chicago, which owns 679,969 shares, or about 47 per cent, of Public Service Co. stock, will receive $951,956 in dividends. This represents a yield at the rate of more than 63 per cent on its original investment of $1,492,366 more than 10 years ago, when it bought the stock at low prices.

SINGER LEARNS KALAMAZOO, OSHKOSH AREN'T JUST JOKES

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 21 (AP)—Jennie Tourel, opera and concert singer, has learned Kalamazoo is no joke. That goes for Oshkosh, too.

Miss Tourel, being driven to Michigan State College for a concert, exclaimed: "Why, there's that name on the street sign." It was Kalamazoo street.

"You know," she confessed, "I had always thought the word 'Kalamazoo' was just a funny joke until my manager sent me a contract. Then I found it was a town I was going to sing in."

Oshkosh was another joke, she said, until she was booked for a concert in that Wisconsin city.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Plenty of Free Tickets

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am prompted to answer a recent letter entitled "Rows of Vacant Seats." It states: . . . "If every senior high school and college . . . could be provided with two matinee tickets . . . on a scholarship basis, it would create untold interest in the Symphony."

I headed the campaign for funds last year and also was chairman of a committee in a previous year to investigate the reasons for decline in Symphony attendance and how to stop it. A myriad of suggestions were made and I might add most had been tried at some time or other.

Few people realize that the St. Louis Board of Education provides five free concerts. The City of St. Louis arranges with the orchestra for free concerts. Any student of any accredited school can get tickets for half rate for the season's concerts. Any service personnel except commissioned officers may get free tickets through the U.S.O.

We have available money supplied by friends for the purchase and donation of free tickets to any student who qualifies on a scholarship basis for free tickets. Any student who has been cleared by the Women's Association can pick up free tickets that have been turned back by the holder who can release them by telephone to the box office.

In the past we have enlisted corporate subscription to tickets which were made available to employes without charge.

If there is anything that is not being done to encourage attendance I would be happy to discuss it for I feel that, barring possible change in the location of the concerts, we have tried every reasonable suggestion.

As to the Park-Ride Bus

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Before providing the super-de luxe and relatively inexpensive Park-Ride service from Forest Park for some of the county people, Public Service Co. should improve service for the city people.

A TAXPAYER.

Towing on a Holiday

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

When is a legal holiday not a legal holiday? I am inclosing a traffic violation ticket dated Nov. 11, Armistice day, plus a bill from Nelson for towing, both marked paid.

Motorists know that parking is permitted at parking meters without charge on Sundays and holidays. In fact, the day after the April municipal election the Post-Dispatch chided automobile owners for dropping nickels in parking meters on election day.

In the same column a list of legal holidays was printed, Armistice day being one on which parking was permitted without charge.

Were motorists informed that parking regulations were in effect Armistice day? No!

Someone evidently gave the motorcycle policeman orders to enforce traffic regulations, but evidently overlooked the fact that motorists should also be informed. What recourse has a wage earner against such tactics?

Can a working man afford to take time off to fight such a miscarriage of justice? Can he hire a lawyer? Even if he could, what would it avail him? Has St. Louis become so decadent and penniless that it has to resort to small town practices of squeezing a few extra dollars from the harassed automobile driver?

JOSEPH W. CROWDER.

How L.A. Did It

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As a recent visitor to Los Angeles, I think I should tell you about Pershing Square in the heart of that city.

Los Angeles needed parking space. So the Pershing Square grass was taken off, the trees dug up and three stories of earth removed.

Then three stories of underground parking space were built, a roof put on and covered with earth, the grass rolled back, the palm trees planted and the benches put out. The old men came back and even the squirrels.

CATHERINE BROWN.

Examining the Record

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your recent editorial, "The Parity Pledge at Kasson," quotes a statement on farm price supports, which was credited to Mr. Eisenhower.

The statement you have quoted, in my opinion, leaves a great deal of doubt as to just what the President really had in mind. For this reason I am quoting a statement he made at Brookings, S.D., Oct. 4 1952:

"The Republican party is pledged to the sustaining of the 90 per cent parity price support and it is pledged even more than that to helping the farmer obtain his full parity, 100 per cent parity, with the guaranty in the price supports of 90."

I don't believe that anyone could reconcile Secretary of Agriculture Benson's attitude and position with President Eisenhower's campaign statements. I also think that perhaps Eisenhower was unaware of what he was saying.

Nevertheless, farmers are beginning to think that the President has gone back on the promises he made last fall.

Executive Vice President,
Missouri Cotton Producers' Association.
Portageville, Mo.

The Basic Farm Issue

As the Eisenhower Administration formulates its proposals for a new farm program, the principal issue has become whether that program shall favor high and fixed price supports, as the present law provides, or flexible price supports, as Secretary Benson has spoken out for.

Congressional sentiment appears to be strongly in favor of high and fixed price supports. Since that is the system now in effect, and since that system has not prevented a decline in farm income which has created deep unrest, it seems highly unlikely that Congress in an election year will vote for lower price supports than we now have. On the contrary, all the odds favor the extension of high and rigid supports to some commodities not now so covered.

Whatever the decision may be, we believe it is time for Congress and the people to consider a more basic issue. The fundamental question is not where to peg prices, but what method to use in supporting farm income.

If it be assumed that farm income will be supported somewhere and somehow—and this, we believe, is a safe assumption—the people ought to ask themselves what is the best and cheapest way of doing so.

The trouble with price supports is that they have to be paid for twice. The taxpayer pays for price supports once in the federal expenditures that are necessary to maintain the program. As a consumer he pays for them a second time in the higher food prices resulting from the program. All the processing and distributing margins are applied to a higher price structure, and so compound the ultimate cost to the consumer.

Is there no other way of supporting farm income, if it is going to be supported? There is such a way, and it should be given honest and frank consideration. This is the principle of direct payments to the farmer, under which he receives a subsidy in cash instead of in the form of a pegged price.

The minute anybody mentions direct payments, somebody shouts "Brannan plan!" and emotion takes over from reason. But catchwords and slogans do not dispose of the issue. The Brannan plan was a many-sided program against which many legitimate objections could be leveled. Instead of raking over that old argument, we need to look at the farm problem as it is today, and to ask:

If farm income is to be supported in some manner and at some level, what is wrong with supporting the farmer's income by direct payments to him, instead of by pegging the whole farm price structure at an artificial level?

Direct payments may not be feasible for all farm products—but may be feasible for some. They might well entail crop controls and marketing quotas to prevent excess production—but so does the present system. They would certainly involve some degree of Government "management" of agriculture—but so does the present system in fact.

What is so sacred about a system of price supports in which the farmer gets a "loan" from the Government without any intention of repaying it, and then lets the Government take the commodity at the end of the loan period, to store it away for nobody's good?

What is wrong with a system by which the farmer gets part of the fair price for his commodity in the market, and part of it from the Government, and then lets the commodity move into consumption where it does somebody some good?

These and other questions call for reasonable answers. At the very least, the people are entitled to a thorough and dispassionate study that will show whether some better method of farm aid than price supports cannot be worked out.

Embarrassing But Not Unprofitable

Quentin Reynolds' new book, "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," turns out to be the most unpredictable tale of this generation, even to its apparently happy ending.

Mr. Reynolds wrote a dramatic story about a Canadian scoutmaster, George DuPre, and his adventures as a British intelligence agent tortured by the Nazis. This saga was even condensed for Reader's Digest. Mr. DuPre, however, then confounded author and publisher by admitting he had never been an intelligence agent and had spent the war in Canada.

Newspapers took a mixed view of all this. The Washington Post observed, in kindly fashion, that most of us engage in heroic fantasies, though these do not generally make a book. But the Chicago Daily Tribune, which has never been enthusiastic about Mr. Reynolds' political opinions, scorned the "world famous correspondent" for accepting a fictitious character as real. "Art," said the Tribune, "can hardly improve on that performance."

The Tribune may have been right. For when "The Man Who Couldn't Talk" was humbly reclassified as fiction, and refunds were offered, orders for the book began to pour in. Not even a world famous correspondent, nor even the world's greatest newspaper, could have foreseen that result. From red face to black ink is, like truth, stranger than fiction.

Five Senators and Mr. Stassen

Five anxious Senators have asked Harold E. Stassen, director of Foreign Operations, whether the Point Four program is being smothered under personnel reorganization and overseas military aid. Since the five are Democrats—Green of Rhode Island, Sparkman of Alabama, Gillette of Iowa, Humphrey of Minnesota and Mansfield of Montana—their letter might suggest just a bit of political sniping.

The inquiries were prompted, however, by reports in The New York Times indicating a severe cut-back of this relatively inexpensive method of helping other nations help themselves by imparting some of our technical know-how. Alarm has also been expressed by church groups and others who feel that, in the long run, Point Four may prove to be our biggest contribution to raising living standards among the underprivileged and, therefore, the most effective weapon against Communism.

Mr. Stassen answers that dismissals of Point Four technicians and the elimination of the agency which directed them do not mean abandonment of the program, but rather a simplification of organization for better results abroad. But the Senators fear that lumping of Point Four with military and economic aid "under the guise of integration" really is an attempt to erase the very name of Point Four because this "bold, new program" was launched under the Truman Administration.

Names can be changed; credit and praise can be left to history; but the improvement of the material conditions of other peoples means too much to be sacrificed to individual or partisan interests. The Democratic Senators can fire at Mr. Stassen, and he can fire back at them. American voters are used to that. But they will watch to see whether we are still helping Indian farmers to grow more wheat per acre and still teaching Egyptian farmers the usefulness of the iron plow.

Gain in Earnings Tax Votes

Mayor Tucker and former Mayor Kaufmann apparently lined up four more votes for the earnings tax when they stopped in Kirksville on their tour of conferences with outstate legislators. They also heard again what is generally given as the chief reason for the Legislature's failure to extend this taxing power in the regular session: the split of the St. Louis delegation.

The Mayor could say, however, that he had met with 17 of the 23 members from St. Louis and that they had signed a statement not only favoring the tax, but promising to work for its renewal. With that argument disposed of, a bit of the feeling between city and outstate legislators cropped up. The complaint was that the city delegation sometimes was none too eager to support rural bills. A quick answer to this, of course, was the St. Louis vote in the recent special session in favor of drouth relief.

But it is to be hoped that the earnings tax issue will not be confused by extraneous questions. Let those be answered in their place and in their time. What is needed now is an early re-convening of the Legislature by Gov. Donnelly for speedy extension of the city's present taxing power. It is the only way to avoid a fiscal crisis which would have effects beyond the city limits.

The Goal Posts Come Down

With the glint of Indian summer dying on the trees, the Harvards encountering the Yales and Old Mizzou hunting the Jayhawks for the sixty-second time, a little reflection on this football season is in order. For this was a year in which some of the old-fashioned fun was restored to the sport.

One cause was the abolition of the postwar platoon system, which made a lot of players who knew how to block learn how to tackle, and vice versa. This rededication to the mysteries of football led, naturally, to some odd doings, such as the very beginning in which little Mississippi Southern whopped mighty Alabama, to be followed by at least one major upset a week.

Hence slick specialization gave way to old time melodrama, and while that was happening, St. Louis welcomed one Carl Snavely, fleeing from the "big time." Mr. Snavely helped to prove that amateur football can be well played and entertaining to all hands around. The "grey fox" found this satisfactory. He even wound up the season talking, not about victories, but about his boys.

In the play-for-tuition-room-board-and-alma-mater leagues, explained Mr. Snavely, a player cannot afford to miss practice, but on the Hilltop the boys sometimes allowed school work to interfere with football. Reconsidering this unusual thought, the coach added, "I consider it a compliment that they come out (for practice) at all."

That is certainly a remarkable way for a coach to end a season, and St. Louis hopes the boys return the compliment next September.

Welcome Mat, on Demand

Vice President Nixon's visit to the Philippines will probably, in the end, be a considerable success. But it is fortunate that Filipinos are disposed to like Americans and American official visitors. For Albert Ravenholt reports from Manila that official United States demands for a high-powered Nixon reception irked many Filipinos.

How would Americans, official or unofficial, like it if some foreign government dispatched its vice premier to Washington, and then demanded that he be met with a welcoming arch over Pennsylvania avenue, crowds of flag-waving school children, a specified list of officials, a complete assortment of radio and newspaper men plus the usual military brass and bands?

That, according to the Ravenholt dispatch, is exactly what American officials in Manila wanted the Philippines to provide for Mr. Nixon, on orders from "somewhere higher up." Somebody somewhere higher up has an odd idea of how to win friends and influence a naturally hospitable people.

What Price Education?

The University of Illinois has made an attempt to price a higher education, and the old grad of the days of the coonskin coat or the later, less profligate days of the corduroy slacks can only wince.

In its survey, the university found that the average income of families with children on the campus is $9218.68. That is strictly upper-bracket financing at a state-supported school.

The median income in Illinois last year was only $1983. This is not exactly the same as family income, of course, but in Missouri in 1950 the median family income was only $2200, and the Illinois neighbors cannot be vastly more prosperous.

Moreover, the Illinois survey shows that undergraduate men who live in school housing units spend an average of $1094 a year. Fraternity boys in particular and coeds in general spend more.

Time was when a young fellow could go to Urbana, or Columbia, or nearly any other state college campus with $400 and make out very well, or with $600 and live like a prince, complete with a Model A roadster. Time was—but then at that time it sometimes seemed cheaper to work one's way through school than to work for a living.

Without suggesting a return to those old days, however, the Illinois report does suggest that state university training has moved farther away from many of the young people who deserve the opportunity. The cost of higher education is a sour note in national prosperity.

Will-o'-the-Wisp on the Road

Motorists in other states, Missouri among them, may take warning from an unexpected finding of the New Jersey Turnpike Authority. More than half the fatal rear-end collisions on the turn-pike involved motorists who ran into trucks at night, according to the authority's chief engineer, Charles M. Noble.

Mr. Noble thinks the fault lies with "will-o'-the-wisp" tail-lights. He says many trucks were found to have weaker tail lights than passenger cars and on some of them the electrical connections were faulty. He proposes that uniform standards should be set for the candlepower and position of truck tail lights, and that a signal should be installed in the truck cab to warn the driver when the tail light is not operating.

These are sensible and life-saving proposals, in which Missouri could well join.

"I THINK THE BATTERY IS DEAD"
—From The Washington Post.

Eisenhower's Forty Farmers

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Kenneth S. Davis, Author of "Soldier of Democracy," an Eisenhower Biography, in the New Republic

About halfway through the President's press conference of Oct. 21, Mr. Eisenhower said, according to the official transcript (always written in third person), "he thought the cattlemen and farmers were taking this more in their stride and, after all, he had in his little home town of Abilene had lunch with 40 people most of whom, if they were not farmers themselves, owned farms and certainly in view of his background with them, there had been no reason for them holding back anything they wanted to say; and his impression was they were not concerned as some of the people that came to his office."

That Mr. Eisenhower's "impression" was correct, no one is likely to doubt who reviews with a knowing eye the guest list for that famous luncheon. Certainly the list is worth examining, now that the President of the United States has called our attention to it and indicated that its members may have influenced his judgment of the farm situation.

That 'Invited Guest' List

The first thing that strikes the eye is that 15 of the "invited guests" were members of the President's staff or dignitaries who accompanied him to Abilene from Kansas City.

Of the remaining 25 guests, not one can be classified as an actual farmer. Several can be classed as millionaires or nearly so. Sam R. Heller, in whose fine home on West Third street the luncheon was served, is president of the United Trust Co. of Abilene and president of the A. L. Duckwall variety stores, of which there are 52 in an exceedingly prosperous chain. Mr. Heller owns some farms.

T. L. Welsh is reputed to be worth some $3,000,000. He owns controlling interests in the big Abilene Flour Mills, the Midwest Mill (a feed mill), and the Security Mills (a flour mill not now operating). He owns some farms, including a ranch in Barber county worth some $300,000, according to one of his friends.

And so it goes down the list of 40 men who gave the President the true picture of how farmers are feeling.

No Serious Talk of Farms

It's true that several if not most of these men own farms in their own right. Others on the list were invited because they were boyhood friends of the President.

While luncheon was consumed there was much chaffing and hearty good fellowship. There was no serious talk about the farm situation, or anything else; there was no chance for any.

Abilene citizens know this, of course, and while they are quick with excuses for their famous fellow townsman there were raised eyebrows and ironic comments in Callahan's place when press and radio reported the President's remark about the relative lack of concern over the farm situation on the part of his luncheon companions. Joner Callahan himself grins wryly and shakes his head when the statement is mentioned, admitting that his old friend "slipped a bit on that one."

Almost every local citizen expresses sympathy for a man whose every remark is liable to hostile and searching scrutiny, but there are some who will tell a sympathetic ear that Ike's little "slip" in this case, is all too revealing of what's wrong with his Administration.

He listens too much to the fat boys, these covert critics say, and he mistakes the fat boys for the people.

Press Remark Is Analyzed

At least one highly intelligent citizen is persuaded that Ike, in this trivial episode, provides "another example" of a distressing facility for self-deception which, in turn, enables him to practice gross deception on the public with all the earnestness of a moral "crusade."

"Analyze that remark and you'll not find anything in it that isn't true in itself (this citizen explained, after studying the verbatim transcript). It's just the total effect that's false. He didn't say that most of these '40 people' were farmers. He said 'if they weren't farmers themselves,' they 'owned farms' and that might be literally true.

"It's like his statement that he'd go to Korea, or that the farmer ought to have 100 per cent of parity. He didn't promise in so many words to end the war, or say that he favored supporting farm prices at 100 per cent of parity. He just gave that impression. I tell you that man is a genius at giving false impressions."

Slipping Despite Local Pride

Here among the actual farmers of Dickinson county—Eisenhower's home county—there's a marked decrease of eagerness to excuse the President personally for the mistakes of his Administration. If you talk with a dozen or so local farmers, (which at least is more than the President did) you gather that, despite local pride in him, Ike is slipping badly with the farm folks at home.

Clyde Stevens believes Mr. Eisenhower, who carried Dickinson county 4 to 1 (exclusive of Abilene which he carried 8 to 1) would have difficulty carrying the county's farm vote if the election were held right now. The hostility toward Secretary Benson is, in his opinion, intense, and it has been or is rapidly being transferred to the President himself as farm prices go down and the drouth continues.

Grant Engle echoed sentiments expressed by others when he said that farmers resent Mr. Benson's "bailing out" remarks, are angered by such statements as Mr. Benson's to the effect that "farmers have priced themselves out of the market on butter" (as though the farmer could actually control that price), and are outraged in steadily growing numbers as the new federal power policies are explained to them by directors of their local REA co-ops.

Those who convinced him at Abilene that farmers were "taking it in their stride" were largely men of wealth who incidentally owned farms; actually he is said to be slipping badly with folks back home because of Benson and new policies on power.

High Cost of Horsepower

From the Rural New Yorker

Although Ol' Dobbin has waged a losing fight with the Machine Age, he is still a useful servant on some farms.

Economists at Cornell University have recently reported on what it costs to keep a team of horses in operation today. According to their figures, it costs $141 a horse, or $282 a team, for maintaining both animal and harness annually. About half of the cost of keeping a horse is feed and bedding. Next to feed and bedding, labor is the highest single cost item. It requires about 62 hours of labor throughout the year to keep a horse, and this time is valued at $50.

All of which means that, at current feed, bedding and labor prices, a good farm team costs 66 cents an hour for every hour of work. Can you afford to use horsepower on your farm?

Between Book Ends

An Italian Dagwood

Thomas G. Bergin in the New York Herald Tribune.

Don Camillo has won a lot of friends in America — indeed probably more than he has in his native land—and there must be by now a good deal of interest here in the man who created that rugged, swashbuckling cleric. This book will go far toward satisfying such benevolent curiosity, for Guareschi in these pages takes us into his home and introduces us to life in his family circle, which is as lively and nearly as polemical as the guerrilla warfare between Don Camillo and his Communist parishioners. The result is a collection of candid "shorts" of life in a twentieth-century middle-class family, full of affectionate skirmishing, self-conscious attitudes, comic misunderstandings and, what is rarer, consistent good humor.

Giovanni Guareschi

In form the chapters will remind the American reader of the daily "column" or even of the comic strip; nothing much happened to Dagwood or that might not serve as copy for Hal Boyle, and the domestic crises chronicled herein will suggest that the world is indeed one, political frontiers notwithstanding, and that life can be distracting, amusing and basically wholesome in Milan as in Montclair—and in the same ways. In the house that Nino built the war between the sexes goes on incessantly (and Nino knows as well as James Thurber which side wins most of the battles), the children stand ready to offer their superior wisdom to the service of their bemused parents, the budget is continually under fire and the cat is not infrequently the final arbiter, not to say the deus ex machina.

This book could not by any stretch of the imagination be called "profound" nor even really "significant," but, read a chapter at a time, it should make for the gayety of nations. What more can we ask of Nino—or Dagwood?

Hearts Across the Sea

THE NIGHTINGALES ARE SINGING, by Monica Dickens. (Little, Brown & Co., 398 pgs., $3.75.)

"The Nightingales Are Singing" is the story of the first year of married life between an English girl and an American naval officer.

Christine Cope was 34 when she met Vinson Gaegler in London. An attractive, easy-going girl, Christine had a job in a department store and enjoyed her home life with her father, aunt and numerous pets. However, she felt that life was slipping by her and although Vinson Gaegler was not everything she had dreamed of for a husband, she became very fond of him. To escape life with her aging father after her aunt died, Christine married Gaegler and went to live in Washington, D.C., with him.

In America, Christine faced all the complexities of life in an unfamiliar country, plus the problems involved as the wife of a professional naval officer. She was determined to be a good wife, but problems not of her own making arose, until she found herself thinking of divorce and marriage to another man.

It is obvious that this book was written by a woman, as her heroine is painted in shades of light gray, while her hero almost emerges as a villain. Miss Dickens is more successful in portraying the characters of women than she is of men, especially American men. However, she does have a good eye for details, and her observations on various American habits and activities are both accurate and amusing.

Miss Dickens is now living in the United States and is married to Commander Roy O. Stratton, USN.

CATHOLIC BISHOPS DENOUNCE REDS FOR PERSECUTION

Declare Millions Have Died for Their Faith, That Communists See Christ as Enemy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) — The Catholic bishops of America today denounced what they termed "the bitterest, the bloodiest persecution in all history" against believers of God in countries "shrouded in the gloom of Communism."

Declaring that "millions" of Christians have already died for their faith, the bishops said in a statement entitled "Peter's Chains" issued at their annual meeting here:

"Shepherds of the flock of Christ are hunted down, imprisoned, debased, tortured, slain. Sick and helpless sisters are dragged from their convents, condemned to the slow death of forced labor on roads, in forests and in mines, or to the quicker death of starvation.

"Peasants are slaughtered and flung upon the pyres of their burning churches. Innocent children are torn from the arms of their Christian mothers and handed over to atheist debauchers.

War Against Believers.

"It is a war against all who believe in God and his Christ, against all who dare to claim for man the liberty of the sons of God.

"It rages from Korea to China and to Indochina; from Russia to the Baltic lands; from Poland and Lithuania to Yugoslavia; from the Ukraine to Albania; from Czechoslovakia to Hungaria, to Romania and Bulgaria; it rages in the eastern parts of Austria and Germany.

"And everywhere the Church of God, her sacred ministers and her faithful children are the targets of the persecution. Millions of them already have died for the faith. Who shall count the number of those who are now suffering and marked for death.

"This is a war against the true religion of Jesus Christ. When will men in the free world come to realize that the crisis of today is first of all a crisis of religion, that the Communist debaser of man is essentially a hater of God, that his long-range and his short-range purpose is the destruction of Christianity.

"From Marx to Malenkov, the Communist sees Christ as the enemy to be exterminated."

Call For Prayers.

Declaring that history cannot be kind "to those men of state who retreated to the refuge of polite neutralism while the curcial battle of our times was being fought," the bishops called for "constant prayer for our suffering brethren."

"When Peter was in prison, the church prayed without ceasing for him, and the Angel of the Lord touched him and the chains fell from his hands," the statement said.

"Peter is again in chains."

Among present-day martyrs to Communist tyranny, the bishops cited the names of Cardinals Stepinac, Mindszenty and Wyszynski.

"And let us raise our voices, in a unison of protest, a protest that will penetrate into the consciences of all decent men, into all the chancelleries of the world, against this new scourge of God and man," the bishops said.

CORRESPONDENT DISCUSSES MAJOR WORLD PROBLEMS

Revision of the United Nations Charter to allow for settlement of the Western powers' colonial problems in Asia and Africa would result in the collapse of the U.N., Mario Rossi, diplomatic correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, said yesterday. Addressing a luncheon meeting of the St. Louis Council on World Affairs and the Discussioneers at the Rio Room, Rossi said, "The main problems dividing the world today are the East-West conflict and the colonialism versus anticolohialism question."

Because Western nations emphasize the East-West conflict and are themselves the colonial powers, the independence-seeking nations of the Asian-Arab bloc refuse to align themselves with the West, he declared. At the same time, Rossi noted, the Asian-Arab group does not associate itself with Russia "because of ideological reasons."

In attempting to please both the Asian-Arab bloc and the Western powers in the U.N., the United States is "in the unhappiest position of all," he said. To do both, Rossi asserted, the United States "should make it clear that in colonialism we do not support exploitation of the people by the mother country. Rather, we should insist that colonialism mean the education of the natives and assert the principle that it should ultimately result in self-government."

FOREIGN STUDENTS FETED BY BAPTIST CITY YOUTH GROUP

The REV. G. KEARNIE KEEGAN

More than 100 foreign students from 32 countries were guests last night at the annual "Friendship Feast" given by the Baptist Student Union at Third Baptist Church, Grand and Washington boulevards. They are students in 12 colleges and schools in the St. Louis area.

Some 150 American young people, many of them students, also attended the dinner.

Leader of the foreign students was Shuunosuke Kumada, Japanese student at Washington University, who responded to the address of welcome given by William Melvey of St. Louis, second-year student at Washington University Medical School.

Foreign and American students took part in an impromptu radio skit. Six student nurses from Missouri Baptist Hospital appeared in hillbilly costumes and sang hillbilly songs. Community singing was led by LeRoy Scharon, Washington University professor and baritone of the Third Baptist Church quartet.

The principal address was made by the Rev. Dr. G. Kearnie Keegan of Nashville, Tenn., who was the speaker last year. He is secretary of student work of the Sunday School Board, Southern Baptist Convention.

CATHOLICS TO HOLD JUBILEE OF MUSIC

Holy Cross Church Will Celebrate Anniversary of Pope Pius X.

In 1903 Blessed Pius X, then Pope, issued a directive calling for the reformation of music and the active participation of the faithful in the liturgy in Catholic churches throughout the world. This led to the liturgical movement in which the chant is a major part.

Pope Pius declared that "active participation is the primary source of the true Christian spirit," and this became the watchword of the liturgical movement.

Some 20 Catholic churches in St. Louis will observe the fiftieth anniversary of the papal directive tomorrow. Holy Cross Church, 8115 Church road, will hold a jubilee celebration, with high mass at 9 a.m. and vespers at 7:30 p.m. The pastor of Holy Cross, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Hellriegel, is a nationally known authority on the liturgy and on church music. He is past president of the National Liturgical Conference.

Holy Cross parish has been noted for many years for its music and its children's choirs. James A. Burns is the organist and choirmaster.

Gregorian music will be chanted at the high mass tomorrow. The congregation will join in singing the hymns, the responses, and alternate sentences of the Ordinary of the mass.

At vespers, the psalms will be chanted, and music from the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries will be sung. Msgr. Hellriegel will preach the sermon. At benediction three hymns will be sung, including "Praise to the Lord," Stralsund (1665).

On Dec. 12 he will leave for Honolulu, and is expected back in St. Louis about Dec. 16.

'Life Began at 70' Miss Rubey Found in Returning to Her Music

Songs of Composer, Now in 80th Year, to Be Sung by Second Baptist Choir.

"Life Began at 70" for Miss Evelyn C. Rubey, according to her pastor, the Rev. Leon Robison of Second Baptist Church.

Miss Rubey passed her seventy-ninth birthday on Wednesday and spent several hours of it at the piano. She will be honored at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow at Second Church, where she has been a member since April 10, 1892. Two of her recent compositions, sacred solos, will be sung by members of the choir accompanied by Howard Kelsey at the organ.

The Rev. Mr. Robison will say:

"This congregation salutes you, Miss Rubey, and we express our admiration and gratitude for your courage, perseverance, and your faith in using God's gifts.

"In this service, we honor you for your many years of Christian service. By your faith and devotion you have shown us how a person may use each year of life to achieve God's purpose of bringing truth, beauty and goodness into the world."

Learned to Play by Ear.

"In the field of music and literature, it might be said of Miss Rubey that Life Began at 70," the Rev. Mr. Robison told the Post-Dispatch.

"She wrote an article, 'Miss Rubey Remembers,' which appeared in the January 1951 issue of the Bulletin of the Missouri Historical Society. In that piece she told how she learned to play the piano by ear at the age of 18, and studied music for two years—this was the extent of her musical training.

"For 24 years Miss Rubey played for dancing schools, and gave it up in 1914 when jazz became popular. For 28 years she was employed downtown at a clerk. On her retirement at the age of 70, she went back to music and discovered she could compose. At the age of 79 she spends about 14 hours a week at the piano.

"Two of her compositions have been published: 'What God Has Promised,' and 'Speak, Lord, for Thy Servant Heareth.' She has also composed a cantata, a sonata, two anthems and two other sacred songs. She is now working on a new sonata which she says will take about a year to finish."

Born on North Compton.

In her Bulletin article, Miss Rubey wrote:

"The house in which I was born, at 1104 North Compton, was a two-story red brick building with green outside shutters. (Her father was Greene F. Rubey.)

"Those were the days of hoop skirts, basques, poke bonnets, and high shoes, either buttoned or laced. The men were stylish in Prince Albert coats of black, white shirts, black trousers, white standing collars with black ties, patent leather shoes and white gloves. For evening dress they wore black swallow-tailed coats, white shirts and ties, white gloves and high silk hats, called Stove Pipes."

The neighbors on Compton included Capt. James D. Malin, Mrs. Wyllys King, the Ernst Robyn family (Alfred Robyn wrote the song "Because"), Charles Chapman, Richard Lancaster, George Partridge, and Mrs. Charles Lewis. "These homes extended to Easton avenue, an east-west street where Col. Alton R. Easton had a beautiful home. He built his house before the street was made, and it was named in his honor," Miss Rubey wrote.

Minuet in Costume.

In 1890 Miss Rubey went to a ball where the court minuet was danced in costume; it was the last ball given by Prof. Edward J. Xaupi, a Frenchman. "The ball was held at the Lindell Hotel, on Sixth and Washington, where Stix, Baer & Fuller now stands," she said. "Twenty-four couples took part in the colonial dance. The men wore knee breeches, white silk stockings, and black slippers with buckles. The ladies wore low-necked dresses with long trains. Each gentleman's costume matched his partner's dress in color. All wore white wigs. It was a beautiful dance."

At Second Baptist Church, Miss Rubey is a member of the Women's Society, the White Cross division, and her pastor says she has made thousands of cancer bandages. She sets the tables for the church dinners every week.

Miss Rubey lives at 4318 Olive street.

Faurot Confident, but Doesn't Rule Out Upset by Kansas

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 21—If Missouri's Tigers are as alert and as concerned as their veteran coach, Don Faurot, the lengthy football series with question-mark Kansas will be only one game away from a stalemate by nightfall.

The Tigers and Jayhawks first had a fling at it on the gridiron in 1891 and, meeting annually ever since except in the World War I year of 1918, now can claim a rivalry exceeded in longevity only by Lafayette-Lehigh, Yale-Princeton, Yale-Harvard and Minnesota-Wisconsin.

Through capital success during Faurot's steady regime—featured by 10 victories and two ties in 15 border battles with Kansas—Ol' Mizzou now trails by just two victories and 31 points in the 61-game series.

Tigers Prepared for Cold.

Faurot, perhaps mindful that a heavily-favored K.U. team was handicapped by cold bare legs and benumbed fingers during an upset defeat three years ago at Columbia, wisely included heavy stockings, T-shirts, gloves and blankets in the Tigers' equipment trunks for the biennial trek to wind-swept Mount Oread on the River Kaw. The temperature went tumbling out here yesterday while the Black and Gold team was en route.

The lantern-jawed Missouri coach was far from smug, however, over either his foresight or predictions that the Tigers would win by a touchdown or two.

"Frankly," Faurot said, "I'm scared to death because, both as player and coach, I know what often happens in a Missouri-Kansas game."

Quite likely, despite a sad 2-7 season contrasted with Missouri's 5-4 record marred only by a surprising setback at Iowa State, Jules Sikes of the Jayhawks is more serene than the ringmaster of the Tigers.

Win, lose or draw this afternoon, you see, the soft-spoken Sikes is expected to offer his resignation immediately afterward, a result of caustic criticism and carping by students and alumni alike. He has been K.U. coach for six years.

Coach May Fire Up Team.

Sikes is reported to be ready to deliver a pre-game "farewell address" that could stimulate the disappointing Red and Blue athletes to tear down the concrete walls of their tunnelway dressing room in eagerness to rip into the Tigers.

At least one Kansas sports columnist pointed a finger at Kansas seniors, naming and blaming them in good part for Sikes's untenable situation—and calling on the fourth-year home team kids to make amends in their last-chance college contest.

Three Seniors To Start for Concordia Five

Three seniors, one junior and one sophomore will be in the starting lineup for Concordia Seminary when the Preachers open their 1953-54 basketball season tonight against Scott Air Base. Game time at the Concordia field house, San Bonita and Concordia Lane, is 8:30 o'clock.

Coach Pete Pederson, beginning his fifth season at the Seminary, said he would start Ron Goerss (6 feet 9), Jerry Otte (6-4) and Clyde Kaminska (6-1) from the red-hot 1951-52 Preacher squad which won 19 and lost only two games. They are the seniors, all three of whom were out of school last season. The junior is Chuck Symmank (5-11) a reserve much of last year, and the sophomore Augie Lubkeman (6-1), hard-driving forward or guard who averaged 11.5 points a game in playing last winter as a regular his first year in school.

The Preachers, who have won 59 games and lost 27 in Pederson's four-year tenure, hope to improve on a 12-10 mark of last season. They played a Scott Field team last season and won 66-56, but the Scott Base's personnel is all new this year.

Tallest Flyers are Arch Bradford of Centralia, Ill., and Thomas Chase of Maryland State, both 6-5, so Goerss, who once scored 31 points in a game for a Concordia school record, could be expected to control the rebounds. Other Scott Base players include James Dobb of Brigham Young, Howard Lenz of Penn State, Robert Peditt of Minnesota and Frank Stolzenberg of Yale.

Ray Malotky, Paul Hein and Ted Allwardt are other Concordia players schooled in playing the post position, and Malotky and Allwardt add to the squad's height with their 6-5 frames.

In a 6:30 preliminary, the Concordia Jayvees will play the Campbells.

Riverview Five Wins.

With Elmer Sexauer scoring 19 points, the Riverview A.C. gained a 62-48 victory over the Fred five in a Muny League basketball game at Sherman Recreation Center. Meramec Caverns won from Coast Guards, 59-42; Hussmanns defeated Missouri Portland, 66-59 and Moloneys won from Monsanto, 53-48, in other games.

Two St. Louis Dogs Sidelined In U.S. Trials

CENTREVILLE, Md., Nov. 21 (AP)—Eighteen of 28 dogs competing in the national championship retriever field trials here were still in the running today after completing six of the ten series of tests they face.

Eliminated yesterday were eight entries, including the 1949 and 1951 national champions. Two others dropped out in the first day's tests yesterday.

Still in the running was the 1952 national retriever champion, King Buck, owned by John Owen, president of the Winchester Arms Co., Brighton, Ill.

Those disqualified yesterday on a blind retriever test over water included Ready Always of Marianhill, a golden owned by M. W. Wallace of St. Louis, which won the title in 1951, and Marvadel Black Gum, Labrador which was 1949 champion. The latter is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bakewell of St. Louis.

Others now out of the running are: Fld. Ch. Cherokee Medicine Man, Grangemead Kennels, St. Charles, Ill.; Fld. Ch. Freehaven Muscles, Nilo Kennels, Brighton, Ill.; Du. Ch. Hello Joe of Rocheltree, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bakewell III, St. Louis; Little Miss Timber, Irvin Linnell, St. Paul, Minn.; Amateur Fld. Ch. Pitch of Timber Trouble, Guthrie Bicknell, Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Fld. Ch. Smudges Bingo, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bakewell III, St. Louis; Du Ch. Travellyr Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Spaulding, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Fld. Ch. Truly Yours of Garfield, Nilo Kennels, Brighton, Ill.

Jayhawker Five Wins.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 21 (UP)—The defending Big Seven champion Kansas Jayhawk basketball squad made its first appearance of the season tonight by defeating a scrappy freshman squad 72-52 in Hoch auditorium. High scorer for the varsity was Al Kelley, co-captain, who tumped in 10 points each half for a 20-point total.

Wet Turf Would Be Equalizer

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 21—The Dyche Stadium field was covered, but the forecast of rain and colder had Illinois fearing the worst for its final game with Northwestern today.

"We don't care if it gets colder but we don't want a wet field," said Burt Ingwersen, the old line coach who helps Ray Eliot make the Illini tick.

Skies were dark and rain was falling as Illinois worked briefly here yesterday. It was the kind of weather that could change quickly, for worse or better. It had better be dry to be better for Illinois's running attack.

Needing a victory to clinch a tie for the title and be a top dog for the eleventh time in its Big Ten history, Illinois is favored to hand Northwestern its sixth conference defeat of the season.

But slippery footing for J. C. Caroline, Mickey Bates and the rest of the team that has projected Illinois into Rose Bowl contention would be an equalizer in favor of Northwestern.

Injury May Bother J.C.

Caroline, whose big toe was hurting a week ago as the Illini went into the Wisconsin game that produced their only defeat, may still be similarly affected.

"I have an idea he's just not saying anything about it," said Eliot of the slender-legged mainspring in the Illinois attack. "There may have been a slight sprain there."

But if the injury isn't bad enough to be definitely noticed by the coach, it may be assumed J.C. is ready to add handsomely to his rushing yardage that has broken many records in this, his sophomore season.

Eliot and his staff have taken a different course with their team this week. Usually a sound defeat such as the 34-7 setback at Wisconsin calls for heavy and rugged mid-week contact work for the Illini, but this time the squad has been drilled only lightly.

The boys were not even shown films of last year's Northwestern game. No doubt this strategy was to prevent too much dwelling on the jinx that Northwestern has become. The Wildcats have beaten Illinois five of the last six years, once knocking the Illini out of the Rose Bowl and several other times rudely upsetting the dope.

Triple Tie in Big Ten Possible.

Victory here would give Illinois a 7-1-1 season and a 5-1 conference mark to equal that of Michigan State which has clinched a share of the crown and must beat Marquette to finish with an 8-1 season. Wisconsin still may enter into a triple tie for the title by beating Minnesota today.

But the Rose Bowl choice would be between Illinois and Michigan State because Wisconsin went last year and cannot return under the once-every-two-years conference rule. League athletic directors will vote when today's results are in and an announcement of their selection is expected Sunday or Monday.

It is argued in some quarters that Illinois with a young team will have a chance to go next year, but that isn't the way most Illinois starters feel about it. These include Cliff Waldbeser, Bab Lenzini, Herb Borman, Don Ernst, John Ryan, Elry Falkenstein and Ken Miller, all seniors who won't be back next year to help Caroline, Bates and other youngsters.

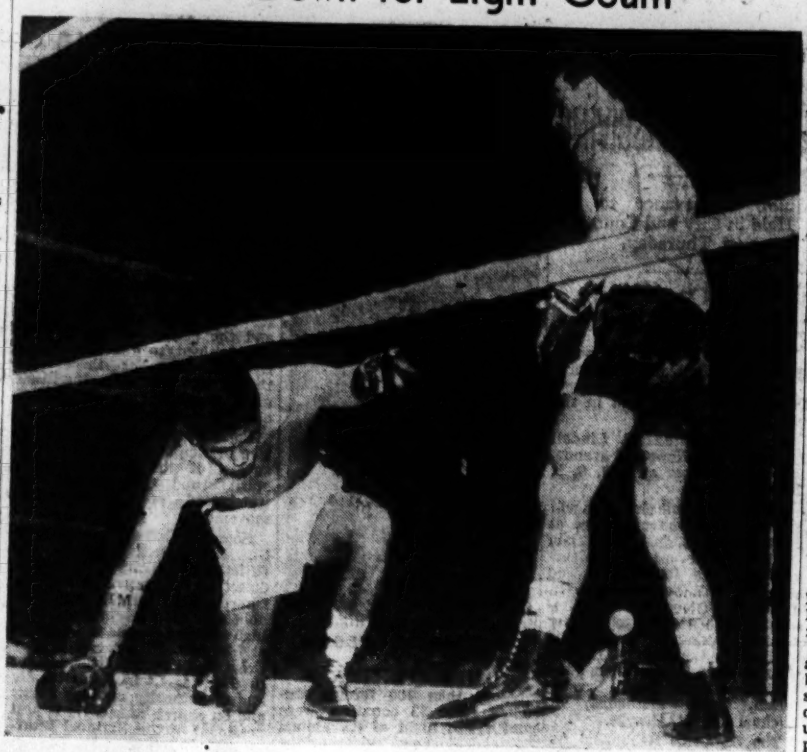

Colt Quarterback Hurt; Taliaferro to Take Over

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Fred Enke, Baltimore Colt quarterback, will not be able to play the last four games of the National Football League season.

The Colts said examinations had shown a right shoulder separation Enke suffered in last Sunday's game with Philadelphia would not mend in time for any more play this year. Enke was obtained from the Eagles and did virtually all of the Colt quarterbacking up until hurt in the first half last Sunday.

Coach Keith Molesworth has been practicing George Taliaferro, a halfback, to take over as quarterback for Enke against the Los Angeles Rams tomorrow.

Vejar took the customary eight count. Martinez won a unanimous decision in the bout, a rematch which followed Vejar's upset victory on points last March 13.

Head Is Victor Over Rosewall In Tennis Final

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 21 (UP)—Australian tennis wizard Lewis Hoad, nursing a sore elbow, won the New South Wales singles championship today in a prelude to the Davis Cup challenge round.

Hoad, 19, overcame his handicap under pressure to turn back a fellow Australian star, Ken Rosewall, 8-6, 4-6, 9-7, 10-8, before 11,000 fans who gave him the greatest ovation of his career.

Hoad's "tennis elbow" caused him to slump occasionally but he fought back tenaciously, when necessary, to smash Rosewall's services and fire aces on his own serves.

Doris Hart Advances In Sao Paulo Tennis

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Nov. 21 (UP) — Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., defeated Ted Ingrid Metzner of Brazil, 6-0, 6-2, in the second round of the women's singles in the Sao Paulo tennis tournament.

In the second round of the mixed doubles competition, Miss Hart and Luis Ayala of Chile defeated Andreina Pietri of Venezuela and Armando Vieira of Brazil, 6-2, 6-1, while Shirley Fry of Akron, O., and Enrique Morea of Argentina defeated Miss Metzner and Horst Hermann of Germany, 6-3, 6-4.

Morea advanced to the third round of the men's singles by beating Manuel Fernandez of Brazil, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4.

Rangers Test Kid, 18.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Billy McCreary of the Guelph (Ont.) Junior hockey club will be in the lineup of the New York Rangers in their National Hockey League game at Toronto tonight.

McCreary was called up to replace Max Bentley, who did not make the Toronto trip because of a neck injury.

Jesse Turner and Langlois In 8 O'Clock Ring Feature

By W. J. McGoogan

Jesse Turner, St. Louis middleweight boxer who has been on the verge of barging into the top 10 in his division for some time, gets a good opportunity to move up when he opposes Pierre Langlois of France at Kiel Auditorium tonight in a 10-round bout. The contest will be telecast nationally but blacked out locally and will start at 8 o'clock.

Langlois, who, like Turner, has won five of seven bouts this year, ranks ninth among the 160-pounders and has been a frequent performer on television programs recently.

A former welterweight champion of France, Langlois is not a devastating puncher but he's a busy fighter and a good boxer. He works much after the style of his fellow countryman, the late Marcel Cerdan, who held the middleweight crown for a time, then was killed in an airplane crash.

Jesse's chief trouble in the past was a tendency to suffer cuts about the eyes rather easily and he has three technical knockouts against him for that reason. The condition has improved, though, and should he escape any further accident of the kind, Turner can be depended upon to give Langlois a real battle. The Frenchman probably will rule the favorite to gain the decision.

The bout, under the direction of Promoter Hans Bernstein, is the main event of a program of six contests, the others being scheduled three at four rounds and two at six, or a total of 34 altogether.

Bobby Bickle, Topeka Kan., who made a good impression in previous matches here, takes on Wilbur Robinson, Chicago, in one of the six-rounders while Sonny Liston, Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, meets Ben Thomas, Chicago, in the other. Liston has won the two professional matches he has had.

Auditorium Card

MAIN EVENT—10 rounds—Pierre Langlois, France, vs. Jesse Turner, St. Louis. Middleweights starts 8 p.m.).

SECOND BOUT—4 rounds—Clarence (Rocky) Mayes, Granite City, vs. Tony Pappas, Chicago. Lightweights.

Driver Killed, Ninth to Die in Race in Mexico

LEON, Mexico, Nov. 21 (UP)—Felice Bonetto, crack Italian driver who was leading the unlimited sports car field in the Pan-American Road Race, was killed today, just 22 miles from the finish line of the fourth, and most dangerous, lap, in the gruelling five-day race.

His scarlet Lancia roadster struck a post at Silao after skidding on the street and Red Cross officials said he apparently suffered a neck fracture.

Bonetto was the over-all leader of the race, as well as the pace-setter in the sports car division, when the accident occurred. He was the third driver killed in the race thus far. Six spectators also have been killed.

The Mexican army reported that two other drivers — Oscar Cepeda Mier Teran and Luis Pombo Rivadeneyra, both of Mexico — also had been killed, but race readquarters announced they definitely were alive.

Following Bonetto's accident, Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina moved into the lead at the end of the fourth lap.

Bruins Beat Blackhawks.

BOSTON, Nov. 21 (UP)—The Boston Bruins took a firmer grip on fourth place in the National Hockey League standings, thanks to Goalie Jim Henry's third shutout of the season.

The Bruins moved six points ahead of the New York Rangers in the fight for the coveted fourth spot by defeating the lowly Chicago Black Hawks, 2-0, last night in the only league action.

Leo Labine and Rookie Doug Mohns scored within 42 seconds in the second period for Boston's third victory in four games with the Hawks this season.

Snavely's Team Seeks Seventh Win of Season

By Harold Tuthill
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 21—A confident Washington University football team was all set to take the field at Reitz Bowl this afternoon against an Evansville College squad that was itching to upset Carl Snavely's Bears. Kickoff will be at 1:30 o'clock.

And an upset it will be, too, if the Bears bog down after having plastered Butler, 27-14, and Southern Illinois University, 28-6, in their last two starts. The Bears, in compiling a 6-2 record, have not been shut out, nor have they blanked the opposition, so it is logical to suppose Evansville will score. Washington just wants to score more points, that's all.

The Bears have 220 points thus far and need 23 to better the record of 242 set by Jimmy Conzelman's 1938 team. Individual records which probably will be improved included Ted Dunn's 753 yards by rushing and Mel Siegel's total yards gained of 916.

Dunn, who has a punting average of 39.3 yards for 29 boots would like to maintain his average, which also would be a record for the Bears in post-war competition.

Star of the Evansville T offense is Quarterback Charles Fisher, one of four seniors on Coach Don Ping's team. Others who will wind up their college grid careers are Don Folz, center; and Charles Kendall, an end. Capt. Charles Shelton was sidelined for the season with an arm injury received in the Valparaiso game in October.

Commanders Mack Top Dog in Arkansas Trial

BOONEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 21 (AP)—Commanders Mack, under the guiding hand of his 72-year-old owner and handler, led six braces of bird dogs near here yesterday in the second qualifying day of the Southwestern championship stakes.

Mack was never out of control of owner Carl Duffield of Tyler, Tex., as he roamed far and wide over the 12,500-acre course. Mack was on point twice.

Also outstanding was Wonsover, owned by Dr. J. M. Morrison and handled by Bill Cosner, both of Laurel, Miss. Wonsover didn't turn up any quail but he searched flawlessly.

T. H. Lipscomb, secretary of the sponsoring Arkansas Field Trial Association, said rain Thursday night dampened the course and a brisk wind today was in the dogs' favor.

Martinez Drops Vejar to Gain 10-Round Win

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Vince Martinez moves on to a January date with Carmen Basilio or Rocky Casillo and Soldier Chico Vejar goes back to Fort Benning Monday morning.

That is the result of last night's 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden in which Martinez won a unanimous decision with his quick hands and stabbing jab.

Vejar was down for an automatic eight-count from a right to the jaw in the second round of the bout witnessed by 7319 fans who paid $27,267.

After the knockdown, Chico rallied strongly with a swarming body attack that should have pleased the TV viewers on a national (NBC) hookup.

"I couldn't get off," said Vejar in his dressing room. "I fought his fight. I was sloppy in everything. My eye (timing) wasn't right."

Martinez and his manager Bill Daly were pleased with the Paterson (N.J.) welter's newfound ability to pace himself.

Vejar puzzled the customers—and probably his own corner—by switching to a left-handed style in the sixth. Instead of confusing Martinez, it set him up for some solid right-hand punches.

There was a strong home town following from Stamford, Conn., for Vejar, who weighed 150½ to 149½ for Martinez. But it wasn't enough to root him in.

Matchmaker Billy Brown has open Garden dates on Jan. 8 and Jan. 22 to try to make a Martinez match with Basilio or Casillo. He also would like to use Vejar but the soldier won't have any more leave coming until March.

Investigation Welcomed by The Cardinals

William Walsingham Jr., vice president of the Cardinals, said the club would welcome the intervention of Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in deciding whether schoolboy pitcher Ralph Terry of Chelsea, Okla., was signed by the Cardinals or the New York Yankees.

"We are sure that we are not only within our rights in signing Terry, but also that the actions of our scout (Fred Hawn) were entirely honest and above board," Walsingham said.

"His mother has assured us that she has not had any dealings with another club," he added.

In New York, General Manager George Weiss of the Yankees said:

"Terry agreed by wire to our terms yesterday morning and the wire also was signed by his mother and legal guardian, Mrs. Charles Dawes. Then about 6 p.m. last night Ferrell Anderson of the Cardinal organization approached the boy and induced him to change his mind."

"I was confused for a time," Terry said. "There was some pretty fast talk. But I feel I'd be better off with the Cardinals. I definitely want to play with them."

Frick said he had "no comment" and that he wanted to hear both sides of the story.

Birthday Greetings From Eisenhower to Clark Griffith, 84

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP)—Clark Griffith celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday yesterday with a letter of "heartiest" congratulations from President Eisenhower and a wistful hope that his Washington Senators "just might fool everybody" and win the 1954 American League pennant.

More than 100 well-wishers, including FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and past and present members of the Washington team, honored baseball's "Old Fox" at an informal party in his office.

And from Mr. Eisenhower came a "Dear Mr. Griffith" letter which said:

"I am happy to learn that you will celebrate your eighty-fourth birthday on November twentieth, and I want to join your many friends in wishing you a day filled with some measure of the happiness which, through your tireless efforts on behalf of the game of baseball, you have brought to millions of Americans.

"You have my heartiest congratulations and my best wishes for many years of continued dedication to that game which you have already served so well."

Hunting in Mexico Okayed for Americans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Americans may hunt in Mexico again for the first time in over two years, the Fish and Wildlife Service announced yesterday.

The Service said it had been so informed by the American Embassy in Mexico.

The Mexican Ministry of Agriculture is issuing instructions to all its agencies throughout the country to resume issuance of hunting permits to non-resident aliens. Such issuance was suspended in October, 1951.

Familiar Faces in Preacher Lineup

Because Concordia Seminary students remain out of school for one year's ministerial training in the church field, athletes from two seasons back frequently are among the most dependable "veterans." Three Preacher standouts from 1951-52 out of action last year are, from left, CLYDE KAMINSKA, RON GOERSS and GERRY OTTE. All will be starters against Scott Air Base in Concordia's first game.

Junior Bills Beat McBride for Title

Tally Two Times in Last Half

By John J. Archibald

The big one has come and gone and St. Louis U. High is still champion of the Prep League. The Junior Billikens, however, had more anxious moments than they are accustomed to before defeating McBride last night. St. Louis came from behind with two touchdowns in the second half to top the Micks, 13 to 6.

It was the thirty-fourth consecutive Prep League victory for St. Louis U. High, which, by winning, qualified to meet Public League champion Southwest in the Accident Benefit Fund game at Oakland Stadium, Thanksgiving afternoon.

For McBride, it was somewhat similar to fighting with one hand. The Micks' line was called upon again and again to repulse the clever Junior Billiken thrusts and succeeded for nearly three quarters of the game, but there was no McBride offense to keep things balanced. McBride took a 6-0 lead when Ed McGrew recovered a St. Louis fumble near the 50 and streaked away to a touchdown in the second quarter, but that was the only time McBride moved into St. Louis's half of the field.

Poor Punt Helps Winners.

Late in the third period, one of several McBride punts that was partially deflected by the quick-charging Bills went only nine yards from McBride's 16. Whitey Rhyne and Bob Mager advanced the ball to the two in a series of four plays. Rhyne carried into the end zone on the next attempt but the ball was jarred from his hand. St. Louis's Fred Graneto recovered, however, and the score was tied. It remained so when the attempt to run the extra point was stopped.

Just a few minutes later, St. Louis opened a drive at McBride's 48, which brought them their winning touchdown. Mager, Rhyne, and Dave Vize did the gaining, using a set of spinner and reverse plays which broke into the Micks' secondary repeatedly. A 13-yard gain by Vize gave the Bills a first down on the seven, but here McBride's line closed in again.

St. Louis advanced to the five, but on second down, Tackle Bob Owens nailed Rhyne back on the nine. Rhyne tried a pass on third down, which was incomplete. On the final try, however, Rhyne looped one into the arms of Bud Ahearn and he stepped across the line to score. Rhyne then ran the extra point successfully to give coach C. J. Taylor's team its winning margin.

McBride Fails With Passes.

McBride abandoned its futile efforts at cracking through the St. Louis line after that, and Quarterback Norry Smith attempted the first passes the Micks had tried in the game. Smith fired nine altogether, but the two that were completed were good for only 13 yards, and McBride was unable to threaten.

During the first half, St. Louis made numerous drives deep into McBride territory, but couldn't break through. The Bills first got possession of the ball on McBride's 17, but advanced only to the 15 in four tries. Later in the period St. Louis drove to the one, where a penalty pushed them back to the 16 on fourth down.

The Bills again got to McBride's one in the second quarter, but McBride held. A final threat in that half was stopped when four successive passes thrown from the 12 were batted down by McBride defenders.

St. Louis's big line held McBride to a net of 12 yards rushing.

Laker Official Denies Club Will Be Sold

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 21 (AP) — Max Winter, vice president and general manager of the Minneapolis Lakers in the National Basketball Association last night denied a report that the team was moving to Chicago next year.

"The Lakers are the biggest money-makers currently in basketball and we would be foolish to pull out of Minneapolis," Winter said in commenting on the report of Frank Beutel in a copyrighted telecast over WTCN-TV.

On his program, Beutel said the team was being sold to a Chicago sports group but would not move to Chicago until 1954 because of previously-made Minnesota dates for the rest of this season.

'Bowl Fever' for Some Teams To End With Today's Battles

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (UP)—Those college football teams afflicted with "bowl fever" may know by tonight whether or not they have passed the crisis.

Experts predicted that today's games would produce championship ties in both the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference, causing a telegraphic vote among league officials to determine which teams will meet in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

A three-way tie for the Big Ten title can result if favored Illinois beats Northwestern and if Wisconsin, likewise a favorite, defeats Minnesota. Should both the Illini and the Badgers win, they would wind up deadlocked with Michigan State, which goes outside the conference to play Marquette.

On the West Coast, U.C.L.A. must beat Southern California and Stanford must defeat California to remain in the running for a bowl berth. To snarl matters all the more, Southern California can win the P.C.C. crown by upsetting U.C.L.A. while California beats Stanford, but the Trojans, like the Badgers, cannot go to the Rose Bowl because they were the host team last New Year's day.

(The U.C.L.A.-Southern California game will be televised by KSD-TV starting at 3:15 o'clock.)

The nation's two top-ranked teams, Notre Dame and Maryland, seek to preserve their unbeaten strings, the Irish against keyed-up Iowa and the Terrapins against rugged Alabama. Notre Dame is a 13-point favorite. Maryland, which is hopeful of an Orange Bowl bid against Oklahoma, which already has clinched the Big Seven title, concludes its season and is likewise a 13-point choice over the Crimson Tide.

The Southwest Conference picture is so blurred that no final development on a Cotton Bowl candidate can take place until next week. Texas leads with a 4-1 slate, but Rice can match that by humbling Texas Christian while the winner of the Southern Methodist-Baylor game also will wind up with four victories and one loss inside the conference.

Feature of the Eastern competition will be the sixty-eighth meeting between Ivy-shrouded Harvard and Yale, a game that will settle the "Big Three" title and perhaps, the Ivy League championship. Yale is a seven-point favorite but a Harvard victory would end the Big Three in a tie and give the Ivy League title to Cornell.

Although its perfect record was smashed last week, West Virginia, favored over North Carolina State, aims to keep its Sugar Bowl hopes alive with a decisive triumph.

In other major games — the last big football Saturday of the season—meetings are scheduled between Georgia Tech and Duke; Pittsburgh and Penn State; Indiana and Purdue; Kentucky and Tennessee; Clemson and Auburn; Houston and Texas Tech; Holy Cross and Fordham; Dartmouth and Princeton; Ohio State and Michigan; Louisiana State and Arkansas; Oklahoma and Nebraska; Oregon State and Oregon, and Washington State and Washington.

Point After TD Wins, 7-6, for East St. Louis

East St. Louis High School kept its record intact last night, but only after a dog-fight with Centralia High in a game at Centralia, Ill. East St. Louis rallied in the second half to gain a 7-6 victory.

The triumph was the tenth of the season for the Flyers and the twentieth over a two-year period. East St. Louis closes its campaign against Belleville, Thanksgiving day.

A 36-yard pass play from Bobby Eggers to George Marcum gave Centralia its touchdown in the second period. Ron Martoccio's kick attempt for the extra point was blocked.

The East Siders put over their touchdown in the third period, when Mike Phelps, on a handoff play, dashed 55 yards to score. Dean Knight plunged through center for the extra point.

In a Public High League game at Public Schools Stadium Beaumont gained a 27-6 victory over Cleveland. Tom Hendricks scored two touchdowns for the winners, while Scott Scholle and Leo DeVore had one each. Dick Longson tallied for the losers.

Ouachita Triumphs.

EDMOND, Okla., Nov. 21 (AP) —Ouachita College of Arkadelphia, Ark., whitewashed Central State last night 13-0, scoring two quick touchdowns in the second quarter then holding off the fumbling Oklahomans during the last half.

Sedgman Easy Winner Over Pancho Gonzales

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP) — Frank Sedgman of Australia, who turned professional less than a year ago, played almost perfect tennis last night to overwhelm Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles 6-1, 6-2, 6-2 in the final of the International Professional indoor tournament.

Sedgman, who lost a professional tour to Jack Kramer in the United States after turning pro, never gave Gonzales a chance as the former American National champion tried for his fourth straight title in this tourney. When the big American did get his power game going, Sedgman only returned the shots faster than they came to him.

Both Sedgman and Gonzales soon will join Kramer and Pancho Segura for a four-man winter tour in the United States. Gonzales came from behind to beat Kramer in this tourney a year ago.

Writes Letter to Eisenhower Asking to Build Fence for Joe

Father of Boy Who Drowned in Canal on U.S. Property Wants to Erect Barrier.

MARTINEZ, Calif., Nov. 21 (AP) — Warren Anderson, who lives near the Contra Costa county canal of the Central Valley project, yesterday wrote a letter to President Eisenhower. In part, it read:

"Mr. President:

"I want to build a fence for my boy, Joe. There's an unfenced canal that meanders through our county here in California. We live just a few yards from it and it's a danger to our children.

"I can't fence it, nor can any of my neighbors, because it belongs to our Government. That's why I'm writing to you.

". . . I think if you had known about it, one of your first acts as President would have been to have fenced it. Because the canal, Mr. President, has taken 33 lives, mostly babies like your grandson, David, and my boy, Joe.

"Let me tell you about Joe. He's only 3, Mr. President, but he's all boy, and there's not a week goes by that his little body doesn't have cuts or scratches or burns because of the boy in him.

"Joe fixes things, too, Mr. President. He helps me with my car — broke two windows once. So I bought him a hammer . . . for things that need 'fixing.'

"I can't tell you everything about Joe, Mr. President, because I haven't the words, but if I tell you what he means to me, maybe you'll build this fence for him that I want so much to build.

"Joe means love to me. His little goodby kiss in the morning make the struggle of earning a living so much easier because I know that Joe wil accomplish his dreams, even though I failed in mine. He will, Mr. President, because he's Joe and his mommy and daddy love him.

"Please build this fence, Mr. President.

"Build it for Joe—not my Joe now because he was the last boy the canal took from his mama and daddy. Not for my Joe, but for some other little Joe — or David—who's all boy and will be No. 34.

"(Signed) Warren Anderson."

the convict-manned kitchens, to prevent any poisoning of the food. Inmates do not look kindly on kidnapers.

"I can't think of anything more embarrassing than not having them here on Dec. 18," Col. Thomas E. Whitecotton, director of correction, said.

Hall and Mrs. Heady were served their first prison meal about 7 o'clock last night. It consisted of beef stew, navy beans, spinach, French fried potatoes, bread and butter and black coffee. There was no dessert.

When asked if she were ready for supper, Mrs. Heady said: "I'd love it." She ate heartily. Hall, however, first sat on his cot, resting, before eating his meal.

For breakfast today the prisoners had buttered toast, an egg, stewed prunes, sweet roll and black coffee. An official said they were in "good spirits."

The only other occupant of a "death row" cell is Samuel Norbert Reese, 21-year-old former convict, who is awaiting outcome from his appeal on a death sentence imposed for the murder of a clerk in the Windsor Hotel in St. Louis on Nov. 16, 1951.

Round-the-Clock Guard.

Guards will watch the cells of Mrs. Heady and Hall around the clock. Three matrons will take turns before Mrs. Heady's seven-by-eight foot cubicle. Three men will operate in shifts before Hall's cell.

A fine steel mesh screen is being placed over the bars of the two cells to prevent any object from being passed in to the kidnapers.

Largely because of Mrs. Heady, a shower bath unit was recently installed in "death row." In each cell are a toilet and small wall washbowl. The furniture consists of a flat spring metal cot. Large overhead lights burn night and day.

In the basement below death row is a section of cells known in the prison as "The Hole," where recalcitrant convicts are kept in solitary confinement, with a board for a bed and bread and water for rations.

A crowd lined the street before the prison entrance, and the institution's lobby was filled with employes, anxious to get a glimpse of the kidnapers, when Hall and Mrs. Heady arrived at 5:37 p.m. yesterday, less than 30 hours after they had been sentenced to death by United States District Judge Albert L. Reeves in Kansas City.

The prisoners started the last journey at 2:10 p.m. from Kansas City, riding in automobiles with Acting Marshal William Tatman and deputies as guards.

Changes Her Dress.

At the prison, Mrs. Heady exchanged her smart black dress, black short coat and hat for a pale green cotton dress, which she said "fits better than what I had in Kansas City."

Hall was "dressed in" in khaki trousers and shirt, replacing the brown gabardine suit he wore daily during the four-day trial. He will not be allowed to have a belt or a razor.

More than 500 persons have applied for permission to witness the execution, which appears certain to be carried out since Judge Reeves announced that neither prisoner will appeal.

The Rev. Don Evans of Topeka, Kan., disclosed today that Hall prayed for forgiveness during his stay in Jackson county jail. A jailer interrupted before the prayer was finished Nov. 12 because the minister's visiting time had expired.

Hall told the clergyman, pastor of a Presbyterian Church and a boyhood acquaintance, "Don, you will never know what it is to be completely alone. You can't imagine how horrible it would be to know that nobody cared whether you lived or died."

"He expressed the idea to me that he had committed something horrible and that he should rightfully be punished by society for having done such a deed," the Rev. Mr. Evans said.

TENOR WHO DIDN'T MURDER CARMEN TO BE FORGIVEN

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (UP)—A New York Opera Company spokesman indicated today that Tenor David Poleri will be forgiven for fleeing from the stage just when he was supposed to murder Carmen. Poleri apologized to everybody for his "lamentable behavior" Thursday night, and John S. White, the company's assistant general director, said that probably would be sufficient.

The company probably won't take any action against the explosive tenor except suggest that he needs a rest, White said.

Poleri, 28 years old, brought a new dramatic touch to the last act of the opera "Carmen" when he shouted to Conductor Joseph Rosenstock, "Finish the opera yourself."

Poleri thereupon quit work for the night, leaving Soprano Gloria Lane in an embarrassing position. Poleri, in the role of Don Jose was supposed to stab Miss Lane, playing Carmen, at about that point.

There was nothing for Miss Lane to do but drop dead, the first "carmen" in history to die of natural causes.

2 KOREAN SCHOOL PRINCIPALS QUIT IN JAPAN OVER INSULT

TOKYO, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Japanese principals of two city-operated Korean schools here handed in their resignations yesterday because their pupils "insulted" the Emperor and Empress. The newspaper Yomiuri said 12 other Japanese principals of Tokyo's 14 Korean schools would take the same step.

Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako were caricatured in a Korean pupils' masquerade Oct. 14 as captives, with hands bound behind their backs. Each was chained to a cord held by a pupil carrying a huge poster of North Korea's Communist Premier, Kim Il Sung, pictured as a conqueror.

The 14 schools previously were operated by the Korean League, a North Korean Communist-dominated organization. During the Allied occupation, the league was dissolved as "inimical to the occupation." The schools now are under Japanese control but the Korean teachers were retained.

MEXICO SUSPENDS ITS NEW ENTRY FEE FOR TOURISTS

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21 (UP) —The Interior Ministry announced today that it has suspended a five-day-old decree imposing $3 to $5 entry fees on American tourists desiring to visit Mexican border towns.

Bordertown business men had protested that the new regulation would ruin many of them and deprive hundreds of workers of their jobs.

The ministry announced that it has ordered immigration officials to suspend enforcement of the entry fee "pending further study."

JAPANESE POLICE SEIZE LETTERS IN RED RAIDS

TOKYO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Police today raided 20 houses and offices throughout Japan and seized letters and documents they said were written by Communists.

The 1000 police carried warrants for 17 Communist party members who smuggled themselves out of Japan and attended the Red "world youth and student peace festival" in Bucharest last August. They found none.

The Japanese press said the police made no arrests.

MISSOURI, U.S. COMPROMISE ON HAY RELIEF FUND

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP) —Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson announced today that a compromise federal-state agreement has been signed with Missouri officials, extending the emergency hay relief program to that state.

Under this program, the Federal Government contributes part of the cost of shipping the hay while states handle all other details.

Missouri officials previously had refused to accept an offer of $1,000,000 to pay part of the freight charges on hay shipments.

A $6,500,000 state program makes hay eligible to all Missouri farmers, and the federal money can be used only on shipments into officially designated disaster counties. Missouri officials also had balked at other restrictions on the federal funds, including a provision that no federal money be spent on shipments to a farmer with more than a 60-day supply of hay on hand.

Under the agreement announced today, federal funds will be used only in Missouri's official disaster counties. The state program presumably will continue in all counties. Of the state's 114 counties, 85 are eligible for the federal program.

Missouri is the tenth state to sign an agreement for the hay program, leaving only five disaster states without such agreements.

Farmers in officially designated drouth disaster counties are eligible also to buy cut-price grain feeds from Government stocks.

Spokesmen said that after Benson's flying tour of western and midwestern drouth areas last week he has asked for more information on still other sections demanding federal drouth aid.

MEDICAL SOCIETY CEREMONY AT DR. BEAUMONT'S GRAVE

Members of the St. Louis Medical Society today made their annual pilgrimage to the grave of Dr. William Beaumont, pioneer St. Louis physician and surgeon of the early nineteenth century and one of the founders of the Medical Society and of St. Louis University School of Medicine.

The Rev. Edward T. Foote, S. J., regent of St. Louis University School of Medicine, spoke at the ceremony, praising the contributions of Dr. Beaumont to medical science as a result of observations made by him of the human digestive system through a hole in the stomach of a patient who had been severely wounded. A wreath was placed on the grave by Dr. A. N. Arneson, president of the Medical Society.

"One has but to read a few pages of Dr. Beaumont's meticulously kept and detailed notes on patient after patient," Father Foote told those gathered at the grave in Bellefontaine Cemetery, "to see that his planned approach, applied in the case of Alexis St. Martin (the patient with the stomach wound) was the habitual, the routine in his approach to medicine."

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED IN KILLING OF HUSBAND

Mrs. Elinor Ruth Emht, Valley Park housewife, was charged with manslaughter in an indictment returned by the St. Louis county grand jury yesterday in the shooting of her husband, Jacob, last Nov. 12.

Mrs. Emht, 29 years old, had reported at first that the shooting, with a .22-caliber rifle, was accidental, but later admitted it followed a quarrel. A coroner's jury had returned an accident verdict. Jacob Emht, 28, was a concrete block setter.

A no-true bill was returned by the jury in the case of Dr. Ralph M. Barrett, a physician, 432 South Hanley road, Clayton, who had been charged with manslaughter in a warrant after his automobile killed Mrs. Zeda B. Hamilton Feb. 27, 1952.

32 STRANDED IN LEBANON CAVES BY SNOW RESCUED

BEIRUT, Nov. 21 (AP) — Lebanese army sources said today that mountain troops have rescued 15 workmen reported missing after a heavy snowstorm in the Hermel mountains. The men, repairing roads through the heights, had taken refuge in a cave.

Seventeen goatherds and shepherd girls, also reported missing during the storm, were located yesterday in a cave with snow six feet deep outside.

Accused of Fraud on Argentina.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 21 (AP) —Federal court announced last night that a Frenchman identified as Rogelio Vicente Adolfo Pascal, was being held on charges of defrauding the Argentine National Atomic Energy Commission of 1,979,000 pesos ($140,000). The court said Pascal was charged with taking the money to buy scientific material abroad, and failed to produce it.

M'GRATH SAYS HE GAVE BERGSON OK ON MERGER PLAN

Authorized Letter Approving Joining of Two Firms, Which Later Fell Through.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Former Attorney General J. Howard McGrath said today he authorized at a Saturday conference at his home in 1950 a letter approving a merger sought by Herbert A. Bergson.

Bergson, who had resigned about two months earlier as Assistant Attorney General in charge of the anti-trust division, at that time represented two major abrasives companies which sought advance approval of the merger to avoid conflict with anti-trust laws.

The letter, in November 1950, tentatively approved the merger of the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. and the Carborundum Co. The merger plans later fell through because of a change in the law.

McGrath said he did not know what fee Bergson received for his work for the two firms. United States District Attorney Leo A. Rover said Bergson received a $50,000 fee from each company.

Bergson's appearance in the case formed the basis of one of two charges contained in an indictment returned last Monday, charging him with violating the "conflict of interests" law. That statute forbids government attorneys, for two years after they leave office, from prosecuting claims against the government in connection with cases they handled as government employes.

Bergson pleaded not guilty and contended the law does not apply to the actions charged against him. He said only prosecution of money claims against the Government is barred under the law.

McGrath said there was nothing unusual about the Saturday conference at his home. He made a regular practice, he said, of handling some Department of Justice business at home during the weekends. The department itself is closed on Saturdays and Sundays.

He agreed to consider the merger case at home, he said, because Bergson pleaded for a quick decision to permit compliance with Delaware laws which require notice to stockholders within a specified time. The companies were incorporated under Delaware laws.

The matter came to him on appeal from the anti-trust division, McGrath said. Attorneys in the division felt a further investigation should be made.

McGrath said the letter he authorized gave only provisional approval, and provided that if investigation showed that the facts were not those which Bergson and the companies set out, the Government would be free to start anti-trust proceedings.

TWO JOBS OFFERED MISSING MAN WHO LEFT SUICIDE NOTE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (UP)—A choice of two $100-a-week jobs was waiting today for Harry Simon, a Brooklyn advertising salesman who lost his job a year ago and vanished leaving a suicide threat Thursday after a year-long ordeal of deceiving his family.

The advertising jobs were offered in hope of luring Simon back to his family and changing his mind about taking his life.

Simon disappeared leaving a note for his wife, Alice, explaining that he lost his job a year ago and since then had been bringing home a $100 a week "salary" made up of money taken from their savings, earned at odd jobs or borrowed from friends and relatives.

Police who broadcast a 13-state alarm to put Simon in "protective custody" said they had heard no reports of his whereabouts.

PORTRAIT PAINTER AWARDED ALIMONY FROM RICH WIFE

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 21 (AP)—Jirayr Zorthian, portrait painter, has been awarded $400 a month temporary alimony from the wealthy wife he says persuaded him to give up a lucrative commercial art business.

Zorthian, 40 years old, told the court yesterday that only 2 per cent of those who paint pictures can make a living at it. He said his wife has a $363,653 fortune.

Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman, saying the statute does not make a distinction between support for a husband or for a wife, ordered that the alimony to be paid by Mrs. Elizabeth William Zorthian, 34, remain in effect until a divorce action is heard.

St. Louisans Who Saw Coliseum Cornerstone Laid See It Opened

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

The cornerstone box of the old Coliseum was opened yesterday. It produced books and coins and papers and memories of an era long gone, an era in which the Coliseum played its part with grandeur.

A dime store can-opener ripped into the copper box, sealed and soldered with great ceremony on Aug. 22, 1908, and there was some sadness among St. Louisans who remembered the bands and the glory.

"I guess we thought the Coliseum would be here forever," said Paul A. Schlafly, banker, whose father, August Schlafly, officiated at the cornerstone laying.

Some of the other folks who stood yesterday in the litter of wrecking operations to mourn the passing were on hand that day in 1908. They said they hated to see the Coliseum go.

Short Life and a Merry One.

As buildings go, the Coliseum had a short life but, for the most part, a merry one — the greats of show business took bows there, big-time athletes packed the house, yesterday's Veiled Prophet queens wended their royal ways across the floor. The Christmas parties will be long remembered, orators plied their art there and when the promoters put in a swimming pool the nation's eyes were focused on the Coliseum of St. Louis.

The building is being razed for a parking lot.

Newspapers in the cornerstone box were read with interest—tablecloths were advertised for 35 cents, men's suits for $5. A glance at the Help Wanted ads, which offered $1 a day with fine chances for advancement, showed $5 wasn't quite as easy to come by then as now, however.

John Griffin, bank vice president, one of the onlookers present yesterday who was at the cornerstone laying, was asked if his business card was among those in the box. He said, "I couldn't afford to have cards printed then."

A Sunday magazine section devoted a story to the then-current and now "new" parakeet rage; sewing machines had been drastically cut in price from $25 to $14.75 and the round trip rail fare to Chicago was $5.

"Lost—One Free Bridge."

The Post-Dispatch, in an eight-column headline, observed sarcastically: "Lost — One Free Bridge; Please Return to St. Louis, Liberal Reward."

The story complained testily that politicians were passing the buck and so for as a free bridge was concerned there was "no more sign of arrangement for its construction than there was the day when Pierre Laclede Liguest pulled up his big rowboat and landed in St. Louis."

With great glee, the old St. Louis Star, in a bright red headline of a specially-printed edition, inquired: "Wouldn't It Be a Joke if Somebody Opened These Boxes?"

The idea, that day back in 1908, when the Coliseum was dedicated to permanence and posterity, was so far-fetched it was funny. Yesterday nobody laughed.

27 PHILADELPHIA TEACHERS FACE LOSS OF JOBS

Suspended for Refusing to Answer Questions About Alleged Red Connections.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Board of Education has suspended 27 teachers because they refused to answer questions about alleged Communist connections.

Bluntly, the board said the teachers "do not recognize or do not understand that public office is a public trust" and said their conduct had jeopardized the reputation of 8000 Philadelphia public school employes.

The suspension of 26 was announced yesterday. One teacher had been suspended two weeks ago.

Sixteen of the educators had been witnesses before a House Un-American Activities subcommittee this week which investigated alleged Red infiltration among Philadelphia's teachers. All had refused to give information about alleged Communist connections, invoking the first, fifth, ninth and tenth amendments.

Leon J. Obermayer, acting board president, said those suspended had shown "a shocking disregard for their responsibilities as teachers of our children."

Meantime, a prominent New York attorney, Morris L. Ernst, general counsel of the American Civil Liberties Union, condemned as "tawdry" and "stupid" the subcommittee hearings headed by Representative Harold Velde (Rep.), Illinois. The hearings had been televised in Philadelphia.

"Committee such as this one have given the country a climate where you either have to whisper on account of fear or shout because of insecurity," Ernst said.

Obermayer pointed out the suspended teachers will be given hearings to determine whether any, or all, should be fired. He said the public should be "fair and patient."

CABBIE IS 30 YEARS LATE ON SKETCH, EDDIE CANTOR SAYS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21 (AP)—Comedian Eddie Cantor, commenting on a plagiarism suit by a New York cab driver for $2,250,000, said in a statement yesterday:

"Mr. Silverman (Samuel Silverman) is 30 years too late in claiming that the character of Maxie the Taxi is his creation. On June 10, 1919, I opened in the Ziegfeld Follies in Atlantic City, N. J., and programs from that show document the fact that I did a sketch entitled 'Maxie the Taxicab Kid.' It was listed that way in the program. When I entered television in 1950 I revived this character."

Silverman filed suit in New York state supreme court Wednesday, asserting he took his own manuscript, "Sitting on My Meter," to the Daniel S. Mead literary agency. Silverman said the agency told him it could not use his piece, but the cab driver asserts his sketch was televised several times on the Colgate hour.

Named as defendants besides Cantor were the National Broadcasting Co., station WNBT-TV, the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., Daniel S. Mead, and Cantor's writers and agents. Cantor was sued for $1,000,000.

STORES' TURKEY TRADE FOR ICEBOX DOORS BACKFIRES

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 21 (AP)—A chain grocery which had offered to exchange turkeys for abandoned icebox doors halted the project yesterday after 4000 turkeys were given away.

CHEST CAMPAIGN ENDS; GIFTS AT 96.1 PCT. OF GOAL

$5,847,230 Received Is Largest Amount Collected in a Campaign—Short $235,362.

The largest amount ever realized in a Community Chest fund campaign was announced yesterday as the 1953 drive closed. Total collections and pledges amounted to $5,847,230 or 96.1 per cent of the goal of $6,082,592.

At a final report meeting at the DeSoto Hotel at noon yesterday, Norman J. George, general chairman of the campaign, thanked the thousands of volunteer workers whose efforts were responsible for the collection.

He pointed out this year's total was $485,127 or 9 per cent greater than that obtained in last year's campaign and said it was cause for gratification that the rate of increase was thus more than twice as great as the national average of 4 per cent. Donations fell $235,362 short of the goal.

In a breakdown of the overall total by divisions, George said the Large Firms led all the other six both in percentage of goal achieved and in actual amount collected. This was $3,161,875 or 98.8 per cent of its goal of $3,199,840.

Industry and Manufacturing ran a very close second, percentagewise, with $266,789 or 98.7 per cent of its goal of $270,250, he said.

Other divisions, collections reported and percentage of goal were: Advance gifts, $1,302,580 or 91.3 per cent; Trades, $441,676 or 94.4 per cent; Mercantile and Office $194,840 or 93.1 per cent; County, $255,800 or 94 per cent and City, $223,670 or 94.8 per cent.

Joseph H. Vatterott, vice chairman, said one of the most gratifying aspects of the campaign was the participation of labor. He gave labor a large share of credit for the measure of success achieved.

GRAND JURY TO ASK M'CARTHY WITNESS ABOUT G.E. REDS

BOSTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—District Attorney Alfred B. Cenedella of Worcester county said today he will summon William H. Teto, self-described undercover man for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to appear before a special session of the grand jury on Monday to tell what he knows about Communism in central Massachusetts.

Teto testified Thursday in Boston before the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee of Senator McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, that he knew of fifteen Communists in the General Electric plant in Fitchburg, which is in Worcester county.

At his home in Ashby, Teto said he is going to meet with McCarthy in New York today in executive session.

Cenedella said he sent a telegram yesterday to McCarthy's headquarters in Washington to clear the way for Teto's appearance before the Worcester county grand jury. Cenedella said Teto told authorities he is under continuing subpena to the McCarthy committee and was not free to discuss the matter.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21 (AP)—A spokesman of General Electric Corp. said yesterday that none of the G.E. employes mentioned in a Senate subcommittee investigation in Boston last week is employed in critical defense work.

Gen. Ernst Koestring Dies.

BAD REICHENHALL, Germany, Nov. 21 (AP) — Former Gen. Ernst Koestring, German military attache in Moscow after World War I, died last night. He was 78 years old. During World War II he served in the Caucasus and was inspector general of Russian voluntary troops in the German Wehrmacht.

CANADA ASSERTS U.S. KNOWS FULL GOUZENKO STORY

to use that as a threat. This man's anonymity has been carefully preserved by special arrangements by this government for a long time."

"Nothing that we've received from him has been ignored and there's nothing that hasn't been made available to the United States."

Pearson said that after the R.C.M.P. reported on its interview with Gouzenko, the Canadian government saw no reason for United States investigators to follow "the usual course" of coming to Canada to take testimony.

Gouzenko has lived incognito under Royal Canadian Mounted Police protection since 1945, and has had no opportunity to acquire new first-hand information on espionage.

Gouzenko is a Canadian citizen and a free agent. He could go to the United States to testify if he wished, but "he doesn't want to go to the United States under any circumstances."

The Mounties have said that if a United States official questions Gouzenko in Canada, Gouzenko's continued security against Communist revenge—now insured by his anonymity—will be seriously endangered.

The government will not prohibit Gouzenko from talking to a Senate investigator if the latter goes to Canada in a private capacity, but it will not clothe the investigator with authority valid in Canada.

If Gouzenko were to decide to grant an interview to an investigator present in Canada in a private capacity, "it might well be" that the R.C.M.P. would decide there was no reason to continue providing Gouzenko with personal bodyguards.

Canada 'Embarrassed.'

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told the House of Commons yesterday that a full statement on the case would be made later by Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson. St. Laurent said that to his knowledge no "Canadian Government source ever communicated with the United States Government concerning White.

The Government is "a bit embarrassed" by Washington's reaction and repeated request, but "this is a case where we're damned if we do and damned if we don't."

By choosing the latter alternative, the Government has at least probably insured that any damning of it will not be done by Canadians.

In addition to the foregoing reasons put forward by high sources in Ottawa, it's obvious from Canadian press and other reaction to the situation that many Canadians would denounce the Government if it acquiesced to the United States request.

Issue of 'McCarthyism.'

As one informant put it, "Canadians generally disapprove of "McCarthyism," and if the government authorized a Jenner subcommittee official to question Gouzenko, the government could be accused of approving the methods of McCarthyism.

Moreover, there is a strong suspicion in Ottawa that the Jenner investigation has become more a political witch-hunt than a bona-fide inquiry into questions of internal security. It's axiomatic that the Canadian government would seek to avoid involvment into American politics.

DENIES U.S.-PAKISTAN DEAL

LONDON, Nov. 21 (UP)—Governor-General Ghulam Mohammed of Pakistan denied yesterday that the United States and Pakistan were negotiating a pact to give the United States bases in return for military aid.

He said reports of such negotiations, which have caused anxiety in India, are "absolutely unfounded and baseless."

Blasts in Ammunition Dump.

TOKYO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Explosions and fire ripped through an ammunition bunker at a United States army dump near Chitose, Hokkaido, today but no one was injured, the Army announced. Soldiers of the United States First Cavalry Division brought the fire under control at noon.

17 Aboard St. Louis-Bound Bus Rescued in Colorado Blizzard

DENVER, Nov. 21 (AP)—Colorado highways were reported still dangerous with ice or snow today, but there was no repetition of blizzards like that which blocked roads and closed some schools 24 hours earlier.

Two continental Trailways busses proceeded safely after being stranded yesterday at Joes, Colo., 126 miles east of Denver on United States Highway 36, near the Kansas line.

Trailways bus, St. Louis bound from Denver with 17 passengers, skidded into a snowbank while passing a stalled car near Joes while efforts were being made to rescue another Trailways bus. The St. Louis-bound bus was freed after about two hours.

Thirteen passengers in the other bus trapped half a mile east of Joes for 13 hours in six-foot drifts said their driver, W. W. (Bud) Oldweilder of Denver, "was wonderful." Oldweilder hiked into the village through the blinding snow to summon aid.

The passengers told of breakfasting on cookies supplied by one of their group and coffee brought from Joes as they remained in the heated bus. It was their only food from Tuesday night until a highway maintenance truck pulled the Kansas City-to-Denver bus free and they reached the village for a noon meal yesterday.

A third Trailways bus, running from St. Louis to Denver, was held up for seven hours at Norton, Kan., until blizzard conditions cleared.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Sunshine trickled down onto New York area today, trying hard to burn off a five-day curtain of smaze and smog.

The smog—fog added to smoke—was a new development in the eastern seaboard's unseasonal warm weather. For four days it was just smaze—smoke and haze—but last night fog crept into the picture.

The effect was the same, visibility almost nil in many places and a damp, stifling feeling in respiratory organs.

The weather bureau in New York expected the fog to be gone by noon, but with the smoke and haze still around, the difference would be one of degree.

Busy Idlewild and LaGuardia airports were at a standstill all night and through the morning hours.

In Connecticut, road traffic was snarled and more than 20 accidents were reported on one stretch of the Merritt parkway.

KILLED AS AUTO HITS TRANSIT SERVICE CAR

Lawrence Trunk Fatally Injured in Collision With P.S. Co. Vehicle.

Lawrence Trunk, 810 East Prairie avenue, was fatally injured early today when his automobile crashed into the rear of a St. Louis Public Service Co. track-grinder car.

Norman Stark, a transit employe riding on the car, said he saw Trunk's machine approach at high speed. John Arrow, 6523 Plymouth avenue, said he was operating the service car southbound in Broadway at Carrie avenue at 10 miles an hour when Trunk's machine struck it. The car is marked with red warning lights and reflectors.

Trunk, 39 years old, a carpenter, was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital. His head and upper body bore bruises and abrasions. An inquest will be held.

Frank Munyak, 3450 Magnolia avenue, suffered contusions of the left leg yesterday when he was struck by an automobile. The driver apologized for hitting him and then drove away, he told police.

Munyak said he was crossing Mullanphy street at Fourteenth street when struck down. When he rose to his fee, the driver said, "I'm sorry I hit you," Munyak related, then sped west in Mullanphy. Munyak was treated at City Hospital.

TRANSIT OPERATORS QUIT, TIE UP MONTREAL SYSTEM

MONTREAL, Nov. 21 (UP)—Some 3000 streetcar and bus drivers quit work today for a "continuous meeting" that tied up public transport for this city of more than 1,000,000 population.

The city-operated Montreal Transportation Commission called the tie-up a wildcat walkout. However, members of the AFL Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes who have been negotiating for several months for a 10-cent hourly pay boost said it was "simply a continuous meeting." They are forbidden to strike under Quebec law.

A Modern Fable

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP).

"Well, Grandpa, I've got a revolutionary idea," he said excitedly, spreading some drawings on the desk.

HAL BOYLE

"It's for a new kind of suit—a two-piece suit. What good is the old-fashioned vest anyway, except to collect lint? If we get rid of it and convince ants a two-piece suit is healthier and more stylish, we can charge the same price and triple our profits."

★ ★ ★

INSTEAD OF complimenting him, his grandfather picked up a magnifying glass, handed it to his grandson, and told him to lean out the window, look down at the earth and tell him what he saw.

"Nothing," said the boy.

"There's nothing there but a swarm of little human beings," said his grandson impatiently.

"Well, at one time those tiny creatures ruled the earth," said his grandpa gravely.

"No kidding! How odd." The young ant idly dropped a paper clip out the window and smiled as it landed in the cluster of people, killing four. "But what has that got to do with my new idea for a two-piece suit?"

"YOUR IDEA is more than 2000 years old," said his grandfather. "It originated with the forebear of one of those insignificant two-legged beasts you just looked at, and it led to the downfall of mankind."

"Tell me about it," said the young ant, who suspected old Grandpa had been nipping at the bourbon bottle again and was off on another tall tale.

"In those days human beings were as big as ants are now, and we had to live underground to keep from being trampled to death," began Grandpa.

"They were a curious race. They killed and robbed each other for six days of the week and rested on the seventh day to regain their strength for more slaughter.

"But they had made considerable progress, considering their weak intellects. They were strong and tall and powerful.

★ ★ ★

"THEN, FOLLOWING ONE of the wars they seemed always engaged in, a clothing company sold them on the idea of doing without a vest.

"Next they began putting out pajamas that only came to the knees and elbows. Then they quit wearing hats, reduced the necktie to the width of a shoestring, and started leaving shoestrings out of shoes.

"Then they cut down the size of their houses, and left out the dining room and the bedrooms. Before long their houses had only two rooms—a den and a garage.

"They put more and more seats in their busses, trains and subways, and the seats got smaller and smaller. The big people became so uncomfortable they began to die out. Then everybody started eating less and less, and each generation got smaller and smaller. There no longer was room in the world for a big man—or a big feeling.

"ONE DAY A MAN tried to trample an ant, and the ant trampled him instead. Well, what a thrill that was! We decided we could take over the world. And you know how we did it? By reversing the trend. We forced people underground into colonies, and started living above ground ourselves like individuals.

"We ate more and grew bigger. We built bigger and bigger homes and larger seats on our busses—and grew up to fill them. We never allowed one ant to crowd another. And our civilization reached its peak when we finally restored the vest to male suits. That was the climax to our victory. Do you think I want to start the ant world on the downward part of man?"

★ ★ ★

"I'M SORRY, GRANDPA," said the abashed young ant, backing out the door.

The old ant tore up his grandson's designs for a two-piece suit, walked to the window and scattered the scraps on the struggling mass of human beings below. Then the fine old fellow sat down in his swivel chair, crossed four of his six legs across his vest, and leaned back for a comfortable snooze.

SOUTH ASIA ECONOMIC UNION SUGGESTED

Filipino President Quirino Proposes to Nixon That U.S. Take Lead.

MANILA, Nov. 21 (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino proposed today that the United States bolster Far Eastern democracies in their fight against Communism by taking the lead in formation of a Southeast Asian economic union.

There had been reports that Quirino would renew his angry charges of United States intervention in the Philippines presidential election, but there was no mention of politics at the meeting.

Quirino said a southeast Asian union should be economic rather than military because Pacific nations have insufficient military strength. He expressed confidence that the cold war against Communism will be won with United States aid.

The Philippines president-elect, Ramon Magsaysay, said in an interview today that Quirino has expected all southeast Asian nations to accept him as a leader whereas first "we must win their confidence."

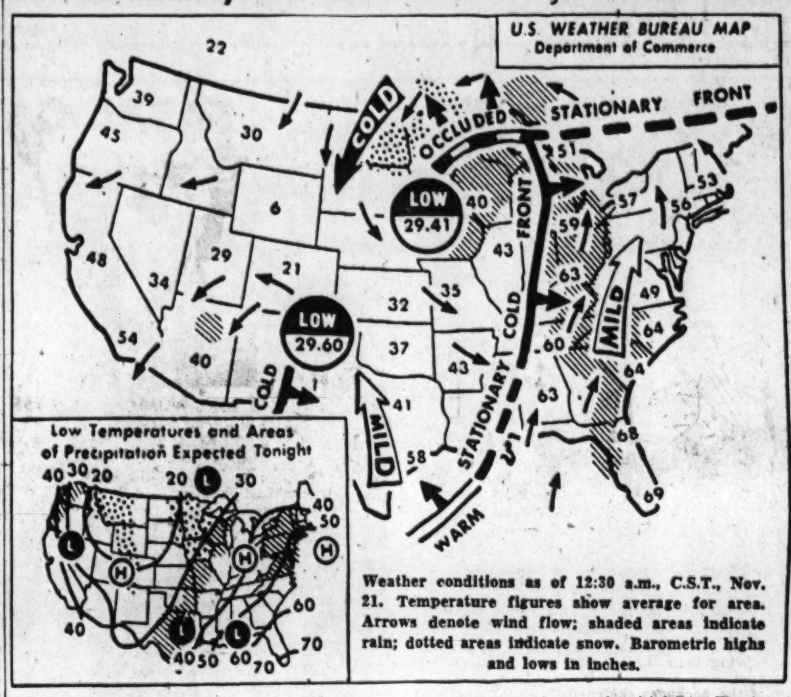

Magsaysay, who talked with Nixon last night, implied that he favors Filipino leadership of a southeast Asia alliance, but intends to proceed slowly.

The president-elect declined to say what he and Nixon talked about. The two had an animated conversation for nearly an hour.

Magsaysay said the problem of Communist-led Huk outlaws in the Philippines no longer is serious. He said there are only about 3000 Huks left and once he takes office Dec. 31 "I'll go after them and finish them."

Magsaysay aids accused Quirino of using more than $9,500,000 in public funds in the last two months in a vain bid to stay in power. The charge was denied by Finance Secretary Aurelio Montinola.

Possibility of Snow Mixed With Rain

Weather conditions as of 12:30 a.m., C.S.T., Nov. 21. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain; dotted areas indicate snow. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

Possibility of some snow, mixed with rain here tonight depends on the course of the low pressure area over the Texas panhandle, the Weather Bureau noted today. If it moves toward Tennessee, as expected, this area will have north winds conducive to snow.

Snow blanketed areas east of the Rocky Mountains this morning. There was rain from the Rockies to the east coast, and freezing rain in some northern cities.

Nine inches of snow lay on the ground in northern Colorado, and Bemidji, Minn., had a six-inch fall by 7 a.m., with more coming down.

Low temperatures this morning ranged from 4 below zero at Craig, Colo., to 74 at Key West. Maximum temperature at Key West yesterday was 85, highest for the country. Temperatures in the low 70s recorded yesterday in the area from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic coast were the highest for so late in the year for several cities.

MUMPS IS CLUE TO DISAPPEARANCE OF STORE'S $700

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 21 — Twelve-year-old Wilhelmina Cocozza has the mumps, and because of it a supermarket recovered $700 in a hurry yesterday.

A woman customer told a cashier that she was in a hurry because she had a child sick with the mumps. The woman paid and departed with her sack of groceries. Three minutes later, the manager, Sam Jast, missed a paper sack containing $700 which he had laid on the counter preparatory to going to the bank. It was quickly deduced that the clerk, in his haste, had put the money in the sack.

Nobody in the store knew the woman, but the clerk recalled that she was the mother of a child with the mumps. Jast telephoned the Newark Health Department and asked if it knew of a child with the mumps in that neighborhood.

Why yes, said the Health Department, and gave Wilhelmina's name and address. Jast and the clerk arrived there just as Mrs. Frank Cocozza was examining the mysterious parcel among her groceries.

STREAM OF WATER SHIELDS FIREMAN AS HE SAVES BABY

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—A fireman using a shield of water rescued a baby girl from a blazing flat where intense heat had prevented all other rescue attempts.

Lt. Edward Markmann ordered that a stream of water be played on him as he climbed a ladder and entered the second-story flat yesterday. He found Patsy Deering, 2 months old, in a bedroom and handed her to another fireman waiting on the ladder. Patsy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Deering of suburban Tinley Park, suffered serious burns.

The mother appeared at the scene after the fire started. "My baby's trapped in there," she cried. Firemen climbed three ladders trying to reach the flat but were driven back by flames and heat. Then Markmann volunteered.

The flat was that of the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Marie Leopoldt, who was at work. Mrs. Deering had left the baby to go shopping with two other daughters.

M'KELDIN BELIEVES RUSSIA WOULD NOT USE A-BOMBS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland says the modern world lacks the will to use its atomic weapons.

In an address at the third annual conference of the Atlantic Union Committee, McKeldin declared yesterday Russia "is now too civilized to engage in anything more fatal than yells and war dances." He added:

"Perhaps she (Russia) has been restrained by fear only—but she has been restrained. And I doubt that she could have been restrained in the time of Ivan the Terrible. Unity of the Western democracies is the solution to world peace."

President Eisenhower telegraphed a message of greeting to the union, a group of civic, educational, political and business leaders who advocate a federation of western nations within the United Nations.

5 Bodies Taken From Mine.

BONANZA, Utah, Nov. 21 (AP)—Bodies of five men who died in an explosion at the American Gilsonite Co. mine near here Nov. 5 were recovered Thursday and yesterday. Three other bodies still are in the mine.

Flashes of Life

First Things First.

CAMDEN, N.J. (UP)—Sabato Scola, 69 years old, came to this country from Italy 40 years ago, but has just became an American citizen.

United States District Judge Thomas Madden asked why he had waited so long.

No Curb Service.

HAMILTON, O. (AP) — A mother complained to the common pleas court that her estranged husband's parents would not allow her to visit her child.

On investigation the court found the mother would drive up to the in-law's house, sit in the car, toot the horn and wait until someone carried out the 4-year-old boy.

"Walk into the house and visit the child," ruled Judge Fred B. Cramer. "There is no curb service provided by this court."

Overheated Doll.

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—It was pretty cold in Ogden, so 2-year-old Janet K. Waters did her best to keep her dolly warm. She stuck it in the oven.

Moments later her mother, Mrs. Calvin Waters, turned on the oven. The fire department responded. Damage was confined to the doll and feelings of Janet.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha:

I'M 15 and went steady for 11 months with a boy one year my senior. Then one day out of the blue he told be he was tired of me and of going steady. Heartaches were the result until I began to realize that I could have more fun by dating other boys. We were planning on getting married but now I'm not even going to think about that for many years. I hope others will heed my advice. I'm sure they will be happier for it.

HAPPY.

Dear Martha:

I WENT STEADY from the time I started to high school until just two weeks before my seventeenth birthday. This boy and I were seriously talking about marriage as soon as I got out of school. Since we broke up I have been dating different fellows and believe me, I have had more fun in the past year and a half than I had in the three years I went steady. Once in a while I stay at home on Friday or Saturday because I don't have a date. But on those infrequent occasions I enjoy reading, sewing or catching up on my sleep. Most of the girls I went to school with are at least going steady or are engaged. Many are married. At 19 I still feel I am too young to get married. I think if more of the guys and girls would wait until they are at least 21, there would be far fewer unhappy marriages.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Dear Martha:

LAST SUNDAY I broke up with a boy I liked very much. I am 15 and I thought after almost six months of going steady that I was too young and should circulate more. When I told him he got angry and said that if we broke up we wouldn't date at all. Do you think his attitude was right? I like him very, very much and would still like to go out with him.

CONFUSED.

Well, those letters give some ideas on the matter of going steady. To Confused, I must say I think she was right, but possibly it would have been better had she told this boy right at first that she didn't want to go with him exclusively. But she'll have to decide whether she wants to go with him—and no one else—or date many different fellows—and not this one. Why don't you other teen-agers get into the argument? Send in your ideas and we'll be glad to publish them.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha:

I'M SURE THAT YOU, being a love expert, have heard of girls who reach the age of 15 and 16 and who suddenly seem to fall in love with the entire opposite sex. I'm 16 and have found this to be true. I would like to know when I will begin to outgrow this rather maddening infatuation.

BEWILDERED.

Well, your only consolation is that practically every other girl in the world has had the same experience. One of these days—maybe six months from now, maybe several years—you'll suddenly focus your attention and affection on one boy and the rest of the male population will be strictly out in left field. But the good thing about it is that you recognize it as a "maddening infatuation" and knowing that "this soon will pass," aren't ready to rush for the marriage license the moment you fall head over heels for some guy.

Martha Carr's Christmas leaflet will make it easier for you to plan your Yuletide parties. Decorations, games and refreshments are suggested. For your free copy, please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Heavy Schedule

By Angelo Patri

ONLY those who have experienced it know how much a runabout child exhausts a mother. Even grown persons would find it difficult to vie with the constant energy of a child of 2 or 3 years of age. Yet these little ones must be always watched by their mothers and, unless she can get some relief from their perpetual demands, she may become so fatigued that she endangers her health and may suffer a nervous breakdown.

Housekeeping, no matter how many labor-saving machines are in service, is unrelenting toil. Add to it the care of one or two children and the day's work brims over. The mother must arrange her schedule and train her youngsters so that she can have a period of daily relief and one afternoon a week from the household.

THIS IS SO IMPORTANT to the health and happiness of a family that it should be attended to at all costs. Children can be trained from infancy to amuse themselves for a period each day without calling for their mother. The little one in his playpen should be trained to play with his toys without needing the watchful eye of his mother.

As the youngsters grow a little older they should be taught to play quietly with blocks, coloring pictures and putting puzzles together, to give the mother a respite. This requires firm management, but it is a must.

★ ★ ★

IF THERE ARE older people in the home, grandparents or aunts, they may be relied upon for assistance. The first thing to do is to be sure that the mother has a quiet hour each day at a regular time. In these days of shortened labor time, mothers, who are truly workers in a heavy duty field, seem to have been overlooked. Their days may run from 12 to 16 hours with little or no relief.

Mothers must take up their own cause for the sake of their families, and insist on having the rest and recreation they need. It will insure health and keep the doctor and psychiatrist away.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A HOSTESS tells me: "I have a friend who brings her dog with her wherever she goes. This dog is not particularly well trained and I do not like having him in my house. Several other friends have complained about this, too, but none of us knows just how to tell her she is welcome but not her dog. Can you offer any tactful suggestions?"

This is a very difficult question to answer because it is very rude to tell your friend the truth and it is certainly too distressing on your part to endure quietly. You might tell her that dogs make you nervous and ask her to please leave him outside.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: May a girl keep a man's fraternity pin after their romance has cooled off? A fraternity pin is not exactly the same as an engagement ring, or is it?

Answer: The sentiment of a fraternity pin is very much the same as an engagement ring. You should return it.

Christmas Gift Wrapping Ideas

By Elizabeth Hillyer

DOZENS of bright and beautiful colors make a rainbow of Christmas gifts wrappings this year. Stand-pat red and green are nudged aside for turquoise, clear yellow, orange and purple.

With papers more colorful and beautifully drawn—and so much more varied—than they used to be, packages under the tree will be more tempting than ever.

Ribbon used in new ways makes the packages prettier. One new bow is a beauty, and it solves the problem of how to finish off in fine style those packages that must be fitted into packing boxes or covered with brown paper to be mailed. This new bow is flat and won't crush.

HERE'S HOW to make it:

The bow is more flower than a bow. You see it poinsettia style on the box at the left of the sketch and in the process of being finished by the gal who wears one in her hair. It must be made of smooth satintone ribbonette, which has a special talent. It sticks to itself as if it were glued when it is moistened with the tip of the tongue.

Cut petals from the ribbonette two on one strip in the shape shown on the table. Cut three strips, each forming two petals, moisten the strips at the center and stick them together. Cut a two-leaf strip of green ribbonette and attach it under the petals and a circle of yellow ribbonette to attach for the poinsettia center.

Wrap the package in paper and add ribonette lengths as if they were tied on, but again they can be moistened and stuck together rather than tied. The bow moistened on the back is then stuck onto the ribbon that goes around the box.

Remember this idea. The flower can be a daisy, a cosmos or any other single petal flower to decorate a package at any time of the year.

★ ★ ★

THERE'S a special kit this year for making kindergarten chains of ribbonette, with seven colors measured and ready to cut and directions for making chains, spring bells, hearts and tree shapes.

One of the packages sketched shows the chains used as decoration hanging from a bow.

Another package uses the ribbonette in a delightful way as a fence around the houses on the paper.

The handsome new gift wrapping paper sketched at left is called Christmas Tapistry, and is most striking in turquoise on black. Sparkles on a black background named the center paper Brushed with Star Dust, and the rows of brilliantly colored houses on the third paper, complete with television antenna, is called Christmas Court.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

SOUTH could not have turned in a worse performance in the following deal if he had tried.

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠743 ♥98 ♦Q3 ♣K76542
♠AKJ85 ♥Q732 ♦1084 ♣8	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠Q10962 ♥64 ♦95 ♣QJ103
	♠ ♥AKJ105 ♦AKJ762 ♣A9

This was the bidding at rubber bridge:

South	West	North	East
2♥	2♠	Pass	3♠
4♦	Pass	4♥	4♠
5♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

South started off on the wrong foot and never did get back on the right path. He should have opened with two diamonds, on his six-card suit, then bid and rebid hearts. As he actually conducted the auction, North had no way of knowing about South's relative suit-lengths, and so his "preference" of hearts at the four-level was eminently correct. South still might have landed at the right spot, diamonds, if he had applied the elementary logic of bidding five diamonds instead of five hearts, but in any case his inept approach made it impossible to reach the diamond slam that would have been ironclad.

To make a bad matter very much worse, South mangled the play at five hearts. West opened the king of spades. Declarer ruffed, led the nine of clubs to dummy's king, and then hopefully took a trump finesse. West won the trick and continued with spades, and now South was in quicksand. He could not well refuse to ruff, but when he did ruff he was one trump shorter than West, and the hand became completely unmanageable. As a matter of fact South went down three tricks when he tried for a 3-3 break of trumps by cashing the ace and king.

A player is not going to get rich when, dealt such a hand as South's, he lands in such a contract, but he should at least make the contract, for a pretty good profit, instead of paying out 200 points. (South did collect for his honors.) When South was ruffed down on the opening lead, he could not afford the luxury of a trump finesse. The hand could not be made if trumps broke very badly, so the right line, obviously, was to lay down the ace and king of trumps, playing for no worse than a 4-2 break. Then, after cashing the top cards, South should simply run side tricks, perfectly willing to let both of the still-outstanding trumps make against him.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question 1.

YES. A woman not only has to win and hold a husband, but has more of a problem with in-laws, home, children and keeping on good terms with neighbors. A man's success depends more on his ability to do the job. Much research shows that a woman has to do better work than a man to hold the same job. However, getting along with others is the biggest job in life for both.

Answer to Question 2.

It helps some. One hundred and thirty-four government employes were given tests of ability to reason out problems logically. Some were trained in logic; some were not. Three fourths of the untrained made scores as high as the trained. Nine Doctors of Philosophy who had no training in logic made higher scores than those with lower degrees who were trained. Seems to depend mostly on natural brains.

Answer to Question 3.

Yes. These traits have been found by Chicago Social Research Associates—psychologists who measure men's probable success or failure as executives. They find those who have failed when promoted to higher responsibilities almost always have a subconscious feeling that they want some other job or want to be some other person. These psychologists have been more successful in selecting successful executives than the combined judgments of both colleagues and superiors.

6. Who founded the Society of Friends?
7. Who launched his career as a poet by writing "Leaves of Grass"?

My Day

Communist Theory and Robin Hood

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

I SAW something in the newspaper the other day which seemed to me to show the change in the climate of our thinking rather dramatically. The article said that a woman who frequently consulted with Senator Jenner and who was a member of the text book committee of the state of Indiana had just suggested that "Robin Hood" might well be removed from all libraries because it would contaminate our young. The reason for this action was that Robin Hood took from the rich to give to the poor and that is a Communist theory!

Strange to say, when I was young we read "Robin Hood" and nobody thought of its being Communistic. At least my grandmother never mentioned it. All I learned from it was that you could be a bad man and yet not wholly bad; that even in evil sometimes good could be found. I felt the charm of the characters who were part of the "Robin Hood" surroundings and I enjoyed the story and I must say that I never felt too sorry for the people whom he robbed because they always seemed to be able to get along without the worldly goods which he removed.

WHAT A SHAME it is that the young people of today cannot have the pleasure that we had without being threatened by this new fear of Communism. I seem to remember in a book that many of us revere that there is a story about the young man who asked the Master how he could be saved and that the answer was, "Give all your worldly goods to the poor." Is that story looked upon as Communistic today?

Much more serious, however, is this same woman's recommendation that the mention of the Quakers should be expunged from our young people's knowledge. They must not learn about the Quaker religion nor about famous Quakers in this and other countries because the Quakers do not believe in war, and if we had fewer soldiers that would encourage the Communists.

To what absurdities are we really coming? Is the state of Indiana going to accept such foolish recommendations? Do they keep someone on their text book committee who has as little breadth and understanding as this woman seems to have? Does Senator Jenner really consult with this woman? Or does she consult him before she presents such opinions? If he agrees with them, then I am not surprised that these investigation committees suggest that the Protestant clergy is riddled with Communists. Most of our clergy would like to see people think more of peace than of war and they certainly advocate that the rich should give to the poor. Not always voluntarily, either, but on the urging of those who see how some of their money can be better spent.

TO BE SURE, Robin Hood was a fabulous robber, but perhaps all of us who ask for money for good causes from those we know have it to give might be considered as robbers because sometimes I am quite convinced that the giving is not completely voluntary. Either the force of public opinion suggests that, or their next-door neighbor may think less well of them if they are not gracious givers.

What is the use of dwelling on such absurdities, except to give you a laugh and perhaps to make you examine a little into what some people call Communism? If "Robin Hood" and the Quakers are to be classed as Communist influences, we are living in a topsy turvy world.

It's an Idea

By Vera

Time to clean up garden tools—perhaps using steel wool to scour them smooth. Now give them a protective film of shellac before storing for the winter.

Lunchbox Idea

An egg and olive spread will make delicious sandwiches for the lunchbox. Mash the hard-cooked eggs and mix with chopped pimiento-stuffed olives; now add enough mayonnaise to moisten and salt and pepper to taste. Layer this spread between slices of whole wheat bread. A vacuum bottle of cream of tomato soup makes a good send-along for these sandwiches.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

Calling It a "COGNOMEN."

"WHAT connection is there between a 'cognomen' and a 'name'?"

To this question our correspondent adds the remarks that "cognomen" seems to be used in humorous reference to a name, more often when the allusion is on the sarcastic side.

"Cognomen" is rather a mouthful, and so it may lend itself to usage such as the reader has described. However, the term is just another word for "surname." It derives from the Latin "gnomen," name, preceded by "co."

In English law, "cognomen" has long stood for "surname." Originally, among the ancient Romans, it was the last of a person's three customary names, the one indicating his house or family—in other words, the family name. That is the story of this term which is so often used today as a synonym for "name" or the general appellation, and which, doubtless because of its stilted sound, serves occasionally, as our correspondent suggests, for laughs.

Weekly Report On Public Health

By J. Earl Smith, M.D.
St. Louis Health Commissioner

TWO grade school children, an 11-year-old girl and a 6-year-old boy are now patients at City Hospital suffering from diphtheria, a preventable disease.

Both of these children had been immunized when they were babies but had not received "booster" shots to keep their immunity at a high enough level to protect them from diphtheria. If these children had received routine "boster" shots at 3 years of age, at school entrance and again at 10 years of age, they would not now be in the hospital with diphtheria.

★ ★ ★

SIX CASES of diphtheria have been reported to the Health Division so far this year—six children needlessly suffering from a serious communicable disease that can be practically eradicated if all parents will take the necessary steps to have their children protected.

These steps consist of giving three injections, a month apart, of a protective substance called toxoid to stimulate the child's body so that it will develop protection or immunity against diphtheria.

This protective substance is now usually given in combination with other protective treatments to protect the child against whooping cough and tetanus at the same time. It usually requires a period of six months for the body to develop protection against these diseases and for this reason immunization should be started as early as two month of age so that the baby will be fully protected when he begins to have contacts with the world outside his home.

The next and equally important steps are to follow up this initial immunization with "booster" shots to boost or reinforce a child's previous protection.

But these two children in the hospital today emphasize conclusively that St. Louis parents must not relax vigilance in having their children adequately protected against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

STOCK PRICES EASE ON REDUCED VOLUME

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (UP)—Stocks eased slightly in the past week on reduced volume. Losses were registered at the beginning and end of the week. The most severe one came on Tuesday when the market set a new low since Oct. 27.

A long list of favorable dividend declarations helped individual stocks. In some instances the payments were less than had been expected and in those instances the individual stocks had wide declines.

Rails Watched.

The railroad department was watched with an eagle eye by the trading community. At times the group assumed market leadership. The earnings of the railroad department are down, but the dip isn't as large as many had expected. During the past week, the railroads reported lower car loadings, largely as a result of the recent cutbacks in operations in the steel, auto and appliance industries.

The falling off in volume reflected lighter dealings for some of the low-priced stocks that swelled last week's total. As interest in last week's active leaders waned, the speculators took a fling in some other equally cheap issues. However, these lacked the big block turnover of last week's favorites. The dominance of the low-priced issues in the active list gave a clue to the type of leadership of the market as a whole and it had the effect of keeping many out of the trading.

Strength in Oils.

Oil shares had periods of strength and so did steels. Late in the week oils were unsettled by a smaller-than-expected Cities Service year-end dividend, and by cuts in fuel oil announced by several companies. The fuel oil price cuts reflected unseasonably warm weather in many parts of the nation which are holding down sales of the fuel. The oil companies continued production at a high rate and were p[illegible] gasoline, fuel oil and kerosene into storage at a fast clip.

For the market as a whole, the experts judged its performance of the week as favorable. The lower volume on declines and the increases on recoveries were seen as significant.

STEERS STEADY TO LOWER, HOGS AND LAMBS HIGHER

Commercial to high good steers and heifers closed the week ended Friday steady to 50c under the previous Friday, with other grades generally steady in irregular selling. Replacement steers brought firm prices with demand continuing good. Cows recovered part of early declines to close 50c lower with bulls showing a 50c loss from last Friday. Vealers lost $2, slaughter calves $1@2. Supplies of cattle were about in line with the previous week but showed an increase over the corresponding period last year. High choice 1064-lb. steers brought $25.75, a few head $26 with prime offerings absent. Choice mixed yearlings $25. Most choice steers and heifers $22@24.25, good and low choice $18@21.50. Utility and commercial cows $9@11.50, a few to $12 late. Utility and commercial bulls $10@12, a few to $12.50. A few prime vealers $26@27, good and choice largely $17@23. Commercial and good slaughter calves $10@15. Good quality 702-lb. replacement steers $18.50, majority medium and good $15@17.75 including a liberal proportion of over 800-lb. weights.

Week's trading active throughout on hogs under 220 lb. but varied from active to very sluggish at times on heavier weights. Prices continued to fluctuate sensitively but all kinds advanced, barrows and gilts unevenly 25@75c net higher, and sows 75c to $1 higher. Week's top $21.85, paid late on few loads choice 1 and 2. Late bulk choice 170-220 lb. $21.50@21.75. Heavier hogs in wide spread. Bulk 230-270 lb. late $20.50@21.50. Increased percentage of hogs scaled 230 lb. and over with many loads late averaging 250-270 lb. at $20.50@21. Demand centered very strongly on weights under 200 lb. and particularly where not too fat to grade 1 or 2. Specialty buying for Christmas trade resulted in more urgency than usual on hogs under 200 lb. Week's bulk 170-220 lb. brought $20.75@21.75; 230-250 lb. $20.75@21.50; numerous 260-270 lb. $20.25@20.75; few 280-350 lb. $19.75@20.50; most sows 400 lb. down $18.75@20.25; heavier sows $17.75@18.75.

Lambs advanced 50c to $1; no change aged sheep. Sizable sprinkling wooled lambs $20@20.50 after midweek but bulk lambs for week, about 65 per cent, were choice and prime at $18@19.50, and about 15 per cent utility to choice at $16@17.50. Also sizable showing feeders and cull to utility packer throwouts at $12@15. Several loads No. 1 skins brought $18.50@19.50; several lots yearlings $16@16.25; most slaughter ewes $3.50@4.50.

LIVESTOCK ELSEWHERE

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (INS)—Cattle prices closed irregular but generally lower at Midwest livestock markets the past week. Hogs and lambs were higher.

Receipts of cattle continued liberal. The supply of 308,000 at 12 leading markets was 5000 more than a week ago and 23,000 heavier than a year earlier.

Prices of slaughter steers and heifers generally closed weak to as much as $1 lower, with the decline least pronounced on the high-choice and prime grades of fed offerings. One or two markets reported strong to higher prices on the high-choice and prime grades. Included were high prime fed steers which topped at $31 at Chicago, the highest since last February. Most of the choice fed steers and yearlings over the market circuit sold from $21.50 to $25, while choice to prime generally brought $26 to $28.2[illegible].

Cows advanced from 25c to as much as $1.50 at some markets but closed steady to $1 lower at others.

Hog prices generally were up 25@50c despite the declines in the wholesale pork trade and the largest marketings since January. The closing top for hogs at Chicago was $21.40 100 lbs., the highest for November since 1948.

The Department of Agriculture estimated hog receipts at 12 markets at 368,000 for the week, against 320,00[illegible] the previous week. Marketings the past week, however, were about 25 per cent smaller than a year earlier.

Closing prices of hogs were generally the highest of the week with tops at $21.35@21.85 at a majority of the cornbelt terminals. Bulk of the 180-270-lb. weights closed at $20.50@21.50.

Led by advances of $1.50@2 at some Missouri river markets, slaughter lambs closed mostly 50c@$1 higher. Prices were up on active buying and reduced marketings.

Good and choice wooled lambs brought $18.50@20 at Chicago late in the week. Prime sold up to $21.25, the highest since Nov. 4.

About 110,000 sheep and lambs were on sale at 12 large markets, against 124,500 a week ago and 149,000 the same week a year ago.

JUDGE FINES UNION $50,000, SAYS IT TRIED TO SCARE HIM

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21 (AP) —A judge, who said two union officers had tried to intimidate him, last night fined Local 927 of the CIO United Auto Workers $50,000 for strike violence at the North American aviation plant in Columbus.

Judge Joseph K. Harter suspended half the fine on condition of "good behavior" and provided the union make restitution for damages. The judge found the union in contempt of his order limiting picketing and barring interference with workers entering the plant.

In a statement from the bench, the judge said one union leader had threatened to "take care of this judge" in next year's election, and that Elmer Adkins, president of Local 927, had said that "if I ruled against the union there would undoubtedly be a lot of union votes cast against me." The judge has not decided whether to run for re-election.

The union claimed last Tuesday's incidents were spontaneous and against union orders. The union sponsored a radio broadcast urging members to comply with Judge Harter's orders.

CITES 3 ISSUES BLOCKING MIDDLE EAST DEFENSE PACT

DAMASCUS, Syria, Nov. 21 (AP)—V. Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the United States East Atlantic fleet, said today no Middle East defense project can be realized until certain international problems are solved.

Main issues, he told reporters, include the Suez Canal, the Iranian oil dispute and the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Wright arrived here yesterday with eight staff officers. He denied his visit had anything to do with reported bilateral agreements between the individual Arab nations and the United States to replace the project for Middle East defense already rejected by the Arabs.

Truman Passing Up Dinner.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21 (AP)—Harry S. Truman said yesterday he would be unable to attend a Freedom House dinner Sunday at New York City. He said he regretted that pressure of business would prevent him from being at the affair, at which Dag Hammarskjold, Secretary General of the United Nations, will be honored by the U.N. nations which participated in the Korean conflict.

2000 RUNAWAY CHILDREN REACH CALIFORNIA YEARLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) —California gets so many runaway children from other states that it sends whole trainloads of them back home at least four times a year, Senate investigators were told yesterday.

These "displaced children specials" were described for a special judiciary subcommittee by Karl Holton, Los Angeles county's chief probation officer, who said they cost the state around $90,000 a year. The subcommittee, headed by Senator Hendrickson (Rep.), New Jersey, is investigating juvenile delinquency throughout the country to see what the Federal Government can do to help reduce it.

Holton said 2000 runaway boys and girls turn up in California each year and get into trouble of some sort which brings them to the attention of authorities. They come from all sections of the country, he said, and trains carrying them home "go east about every three months—sometimes oftener."

BOARD CHECKING AMERICANS IN INTERNATIONAL POSTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP) —A special loyalty board is investigating all American citizens who work for international organizations supported by this country.

An official spokesman disclosed that the investigation is being conducted by the International Organizations Employes Loyalty Board, which was created last January by an executive order of former President Truman.

William Henry Taylor, an official of the International Monetary Fund and one-time Treasury Department associate of the late Harry Dexter White, is one of those being investigated, the spokesman said. He pointed out that the current review covers everyone. Taylor is now assistant director of the monetary fund's Middle East division.

RUSSIAN SHOOTS OFF MOUTH IN CLAIMS ON ARTILLERY

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Russians laid claim today to being first in the field with a whole range of modern war weapons, including rockets, quick-firing cannon and mine throwers.

The Moscow radio also quoted Col. Gen. Fomin, identified as a Soviet artillery commander, as saying that the Russians also invented rifled gun barrels 200 years before anyone else and were the first to use breech-loading cannon.

By the beginning of World War II, he added, Sovie artillery was "superior in fighting and technical qualities to artillery of any other country in the world."

NAVY MASCOT CAT A.W.O.L.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 21 (AP)—The United States naval base here issued a special bulletin yesterday asking all personnel to be on the lookout for "Fathoms," an A.W.O.L. cat from the destroyer Maury.

The Maury, after leaving San Juan, radioed back to the base: "Fathoms, our mascot cat, not on board when ship left. Has identification tag on collar. If found we ask it be sent by ship to New York."

CHILD OF AMERICAN OFFICER FOUND DYING IN TOKYO DITCH

TOKYO, Nov. 21 (UP)—The 9-year-old daughter of an American colonel died today shortly after she was found lying unconscious in a drainage ditch in an army housing area.

Military authorities said Col. Jacquard H. Rothschild of Chicago found his daughter Susan suffering from undisclosed injuries in a ditch about two blocks from home.

Military police said an autopsy was ordered and an investigation was under way.

FROM our present point of view, it seems strange that the Mormons in Missouri were treated harshly by members of other religions who lived there 115 years ago.

Several reasons existed, including the fact that some settlers feared that the Mormons were planning to crowd them out and take away their lands.

Among the non-Mormons were many who said that Joseph Smith had committed a fraud. They spoke of his "Book of Mormon" as a work of fiction.

* * *

SOME of the Mormons in Missouri, as well as their enemies, were guilty of angry actions. Several Mormon leaders were captured by soldiers of the state militia, but they escaped and crossed the Mississippi into Illinois. Other Mormons followed them, and the village of Nauvoo grew up on the eastern side of the big river.

A keen interest in politics existed in the mind of Joseph Smith. About 20,000 of his followers gathered around him at Nauvoo and nearby parts of Illinois, and he controlled their votes in state elections. When he was 39 years of age, he announced himself as a candidate for President of the United States.

* * *

NEWSPAPER ATTACKS on Smith were printed, and he was put under arrest, along with his brother Hyrum and two other Mormon leaders. The jail in which they were held was stormed by 200 men with blackened faces. Joseph Smith was killed by bullets, as was his brother.

After his death, the church came under control of the 12 Mormon apostles, led by Brigham Young. A decision was made to change the headquarters to a western place, and thousands of Mormons crossed the prairies. As their new center, Brigham Young chose the place where Salt Lake City now stands.

The CAT'S PAW

by MARION SALTER

CHAPTER 14.

CHARLOTTE dropped down on Mario's desk. Why now was her heart in such a fright? "Somebody better give me the minutes of this meeting," she said, "so I'll understand these veiled and subtle references."

Tim touched his tie, pushed back his cuffs and cleared his throat, in marvelous mimicry of King. It might have been amusing—except that it all too evidently wasn't.

"Quote," Tim began. "I've been receiving threatening letters. Does that surprise you? No, I see it doesn't. I see the remarkable grapevine has been at work. Now as anyone at all cognizant of psychology is aware, threatening notes are the product of a psychotic and to be discounted as such. They give a little person a false feeling of power, under the impression that he or she, the inferior one, is victimizing the one feared and hated. While these notes are hardly pleasant reading they're not to be taken seriously. I merely wanted to learn who was sending them. Now I know. And as I thought, the individual was, of course, not dangerous. The whole thing was rather pathetic. And I think this announcement will put an end to the matter.' Unquote." Tim paused. "Thus spake Zarathustra."

Charlotte felt everyone awaited her comment. I'd better seem curious, she thought. "Well, who was it, did he say?" She made her voice breathless.

"Everybody suspects everybody," Eric said.

"Maybe he doesn't know at all," Charlotte said. "Maybe he just did that to breathe fear into whoever is back of it." She didn't dare look at Velora's face.

"What was the threat though?" Tim asked. "That's the $64 question. What's our beloved boss got in his past?"

"Women," Norma said. So now he takes it all out on us." Norma had never sounded so belligerent and her pretty face was bitter.

"Why, what else happened?" Charlotte pursued.

"His Highness said," Norma went on, "that this sort of poisonous thinking is, of course, contagious, so the innocent must suffer with the guilty, and . . ." She paused for breath.

"So," Dorothy took it up, "point one, there will be no dates between members of the advertising staff." She watched Charlotte, who began to draw cats on Mario's layout pad.

"Point two," Dorothy continued, "all desks are subject to inspection without warning. Three, lunch hours are to be staggered, from 11:30 to 2. Not more than two of us may leave at one time. And last, after today there will be no personal telephone calls, incoming or outgoing. This is a business office," he said.

"Believe it or not," Tim put in. "Business!"

* * *

"THEN about the jewelry," Velora said, "Mr. Cummings said some jewelry was taken from the main floor last week, and it's still not known whether it was an inside job or a kleptomaniac."

The thick silence hung like a fog.

"What's the connection?" Charlotte asked at last

"Who says there has to be a connection?" It was Tim. "But don't think for a minute you've heard everything yet. He must sit up nights devising new forms of torture. Here's the final blow. There will be a couple of personnel changes, he said. In this office. Just to start the new year right. The last remark is my own."

"I know it's me, going to be ired," Norma said. "I never kidd myself I was great shakes as copywriter. I hope it is me; n I'll be free of that fiend."

"You know very well it's obably me," Tim said. "Well, e meets the most interesting ople in the bread line."

"You're both wrong." Mario ppeared suddenly. "It's me. I'm ired."

"You?!" It was a chorus of incredulity.

"Yes, me. The low-down skunk, the things he said." Mario looked around as though he weren't seeing a thing. Then he sat down and dropped his face in his hands.

Charlotte's thoughts were wild birds, scattered by the shot of a gun. They were like racing clouds, tattered and torn by the wind.

Now wait a minute, somewhere there's a meaning. A jewelry theft. Mario fired, and someone else may be, he hinted. Not me, he wouldn't fire me; no such luck. Or would he? Was that the next mysterious move, his wonders to perform?

Velora's buzzer sounded peremptorily. When she came out of Cummings's office, she started toward Charlotte. She stood beside her, shoulders sagging.

"Mr. Cummings wants to see you," she told Charlotte in a dead voice.

As Charlotte started down the aisle, she heard Norma call out to Velora, "Oh, Velora dear, did you find your lost letter?"

"Yes," Velora said. "Yes, I—located it."

* * *

CHARLOTTE crossed the carpet and stood before King's desk, while he went on reading a report. Her right hand opened and closed spasmodically. She shut it, making a tight fist. This is where I came in, she thought. And for a minute it was a year ago, and she was back at the beginning. Only there was never any going back to the beginning.

So now it was the end. This time, she felt, was almost the inevitable end.

Charlotte shook her head. No thanks, she thought, I'm not smoking any peace pipe with you, Big Chief. . . . Today he had turned on the charm. It was one of the buttons he pushed. Watch out for him when he pushes the charm button.

"I'm sorry you missed the meeting," he said. "I particularly wanted you there."

Charlotte sat mute. 'It's going to be good, she thought; whatever it is, it's good; he's so pleased with himself.

He cleared his throat and pushed back his cuffs. "As of January first," he said. "you will be Delafield's new advertising manager. Your salary will be increased proportionately, of course."

In spite of herself Charlotte started. Her mind raced, trying to keep ahead of his. With catcaution she looked for the catch that would spring the trap.

He sat blowing smoke rings, waiting for her to think it through. Take your time, his manner indicated. I know you'll have to seem to weigh this, but I weighted the scales first. You can't refuse. But take your time.

"I always promised I'd help you to the big time," he said.

The realization of her ambitions, money, lovely money—that's how he thought to tempt her. But what was the game? What's he getting out of it? Charlotte asked herself.

Already ther'd been the pleasure of hurting Mario

And having so far failed to break her, this would be a new approach. King was set for a field day, stimulated by his maneuverings. He rocked gently in his swivel chair.

But something must have precipitated this. Achtung!

"You see, Charlotte," he said. "I'm not one to hold a grudge."

"Well, I am!" Charlotte flung back. "I hold a grudge with a deathlike grip. And I don't care to work for a—for a cat-killer."

"You're beautiful when you're dramatic," he said, "but I don't know what you're talking about."

"About two sweet inoffensive creatures that should have scratched your eyes out," Charlotte said. "So you'd better look around for a new advertising manager, and for a new copywriter, too. Because as of January first, I resign." Charlotte leaned across the desk and met his glass eyes.

"As you like," he said. "But I think you'll find you're making a mistake. Some jewelry disappeared last week. It occurs to me that the investigators might find your—transgression, shall we call it?—a matter of interest. Especially since it's a matter of 'record.'" His glance toward the filing cabinet was almost imperceptible. "There was a tape recorder in this office the day you confessed taking the rings and watches."
